

OPPOSE STATE ACTION IN BRIBE CASE

5 PROGRESSIVE GROUPS BUSY ON THEIR PROGRAM

Specific Legislation to Be Prepared Before Next Congress Meets

BULLETIN
Washington—(AP)—Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, chairman of the Progressive conference, said today the only hope for a liberal presidential candidate is in the Democratic party.

Washington—(AP)—Confident of their power, five groups of Progressives are at work on specific legislation they intend to get through the next delicately-balanced congress.

These committees were named yesterday at the conclusion of the two-day meeting here and constitute an organization which will carry on indefinitely.

Specific legislation is to be prepared this summer and fall. When congress convenes in its regular December session, the Progressives will have enough votes to control if there are no other party desertions. They hope to play Democrat against Republican until one or the other accedes to definite legislative suggestions. Whichever major party capitulates will expect to be master of the two houses.

Only four sets of reports were approved as the conference ended—those on tariff, unemployment, agriculture and representative government. The public utilities committee, guided by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, conference chairman, failed to complete its preliminary study before adjournment. Its program, too, will be ready by winter.

The representative government committee recommended: Study of the electoral college system, passage of the Norris "lame duck" amendment, abolition of "wrecking" in politics, cessation of newspaper, magazine and book censorship; admission of political refugees; grants. Prepared under the direction of Senator Cutting, Republican, New Mexico, the report said the committee demanded only that "liberty be restored to the American people."

Attack Hoover on Depression
The unemployment group, under Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, deplored the "failure" of the administration to cope with the depression. It urged creation of a coordinated national employment act, a system like that embodied in the Wagner bill which President Hoover pocket-vetted.

The tariff committee said present laws on this subject smack of "discredited roll-back methods." Senator Costigan, Democrat, Colorado, suggested tariff-changing powers now held by the president under the flexing provision be restored to congress.

A further series of conferences on agricultural questions was planned by the group, led by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho. Its report said data will be sought and legislation drafted for the next congress. Borah broke with the president because the executive would not approve export bounty relief.

Prohibition Is Issue
The unusually early popping of political phenomena has occurred in the three distinct groups—Democrats, Republicans and Independents.

Prohibition, power, unemployment and the tariff stand out as issues projected from the early swirl of conferences and maneuvers.

As for candidates, president Hoover, titular head of the Republican party, is unchallenged so far with in the regular ranks and the Republican national committee has centered its efforts in support of his administration.

There are a host of Democratic possibilities, including wetts and drys. Some are just in the speculative stage. Others have been advanced formally by their states.

Suitor Kills Green Bay Woman, Hangs Self

MAN WHO ALWAYS FOUND "JINX" DAY LUCKY FALLS DEAD

Kansas City—(AP)—Robert E. Lee James, former police captain, told his employer yesterday that "Friday the 13th has always been my lucky day." He fell dead in a street car this morning.

The former officer was a collector for an ice company. In reviewing yesterday the part 13 had played in his life James said: "Everything good that has come to me has come on the 13th. When I went on the police force I walked 13 beats before I was put on the mounted squad. After 13 years I was promoted to sergeant and assigned to the 1300 blocks, St. Louis-ave. My badge number was 13 and on the 13th day of the month I was commissioned as a police captain."

Schroeder Is Guilty; Faces Prison Term

2 to 21 Year Sentence for Voluntary Manslaughter of Hitch-hiker

Indianapolis—(AP)—Convicted of voluntary manslaughter for the death of an unknown hitch-hiker whose body he admitted burning in his automobile near here last May, Harold Herbert Schroeder, Mobile, Ala., today faced a 2 to 21 year term in the Indiana state prison.

Judge Frank P. Baker, who presided at the trial in criminal court, will pronounce sentence at 9:30 Monday morning.

The verdict was reached by a jury after three hours and 35 minutes deliberation. The case was given the jurors at 3 o'clock P. M. yesterday after 11 days of testimony and arguments before a courtroom crowded at every session. The state had sought conviction of first degree murder and imposition of the death penalty.

Joe M. Holmes, defense counsel, announced he will not file any motions to set aside the verdict, but said he would confer today with Schroeder's relatives.

Prosecutor Herbert E. Wilson said he believed Schroeder will have to serve the entire 21-year maximum term. He explained a new rule adopted by the state prison board provides that no one convicted of voluntary manslaughter can be released before his maximum term unless the parole application is signed by the prosecutor.

NANCY BOWEN FREED, HAS SERVED ONE YEAR

Buffalo, N. Y.—(AP)—Nancy Bowen, 65-year-old Seneca Indian woman, today was sentenced to imprisonment for one to ten years for manslaughter, but was released immediately as she had already served the minimum time of her sentence. Her sentence grew out of the slaying of Henri Clothilde Marchand, wife of Henri Marchand, an artist in Buffalo last March.

Suspensions Bring Threat Of Strike At Minnesota U.

St. Paul—(AP)—Legislative investigation of conditions at the University of Minnesota farm school where 17 students have been suspended for drinking, was demanded in the state senate today in a resolution introduced by Senator George L. Siegel, St. Paul.

St. Paul—(AP)—More than 100 senators at the University of Minnesota farm school today threatened to "walk out" of commencement exercises March 25 unless 13 of their fellow class men, suspended for liquor drinking, are allowed to graduate. The 13 were among 17 students at the school involved in suspensions.

While the campus seethed with indignation over what students termed "unfairness," preparations were made to launch a legislative inquiry into the circumstances of the case today.

Two investigations may be started by the law makers—one into the general liquor situation at the University of Minnesota, situated in Minneapolis, and the other into the suspensions at the local institution, which is an agricultural high school branch of the university.

SPURNED LOVE THOUGHT CAUSE OF TWO DEATHS

Anthony Yost Slashes Throat of Mrs. Ella Morrison in Her Home

Green Bay—(AP)—Her throat slashed with a butcher knife, Mrs. Ella Morrison, 42-year-old widowed mother of three small sons, was dead today, the victim of Anthony Yost, 32, whose love she spurned. Yost also was dead, a suicide by hanging.

The slaying was committed in Mrs. Morrison's home last night. Her two youngest children, DeWane, 8, and Walter, 5, played tag on the lawn outside. At Yost's request, Dean, 12, had gone to buy a newspaper.

Yost, a carpenter, and Mrs. Morrison lived in the same block. His admiration for her courageous struggle to provide for her sons by doing laundry work developed into love. He asked her to marry him. She refused. Yost persisted. She determined to move from the neighborhood.

Yost brooded and last night went to Mrs. Morrison to ask that she reconsider. She was adamant. Angered, Yost seized a butcher knife and slashed her throat, then fled to his own house.

Mrs. Morrison staggered to a neighboring residence to seek aid, but died as she reached the front door.

Police sped to Yost's home and broke in. They found his body, a slash around the neck, hanging from a rafter in the basement.

Neighbors reported that when Yost first learned, a week ago, his commitment suicide by driving his automobile truck into East river.

Mrs. Morrison, a widow of two years came to Green Bay from Rhineland to be near her father, Dave Patterson, supervisor of the First ward in De Pere. She lived at 1350 Emily-st and her neighbor at 1342 Emily-st was Yost.

J. BASIL RAMSEY

Nashville, Tenn.—(AP)—Colonel Luke Lea and Rogers Caldwell were free in bonds of $115,000 each today to await trial in federal court on charges of violating national banking laws.

Basil Ramsey, president of the closed Holston Union National bank of Knoxville, to have $98,000 placed to their account at the expense of the bank's credit. Ramsey previously surrendered for arrest in Knoxville and was released on $25,000 bond.

Caldwell, Lea, and Ramsey will be arraigned at the session of federal court at Knoxville, May 25.

ASSEMBLY HITS 3 BLOWS AT DRY LAW

Favors National Referendum, Modification or Repeal, Wine and Beer

Madison—(AP)—The Wisconsin assembly showed its displeasure with the prohibition law when votes were taken on three wet resolutions today.

By a vote of 76 to 11 the assembly concurred in Sen. Thomas Duncan's bill memorializing congress to provide for a national referendum on prohibition.

The assembly also concurred in Sen. Bernhard Gettelman's resolution memorializing congress to take steps toward modification or repeal of the eighteenth amendment as a result of the Wickersham report. The vote on this measure was 61 to 28.

The third resolution, introduced by Sen. Leonard Foss, memorializes congress to modify the Volstead act to permit the manufacture and sale of beer and wine as an aid to unemployment. This resolution was concurred in by a 60 to 27 vote.

The authors of each of the resolutions are residents of Milwaukee.

BOOTLEGGERS BLAMED AS BLAST WRECK HOME

Berlin, Maryland—(AP)—An explosion, apparently of dynamite, early today partially destroyed the home of George K. Jarvis, Sr., but eight persons asleep at the time escaped unharmed.

The explosion, blamed by police on the activities of bootleggers, was one of a series of acts of violence here and at Ocean City, nearby seaside resort in the last two years.

Four men are under $3,000 bond each for trial at the March term of circuit court in connection with an attack on the home of Chief of Police Robert Allen at Ocean Park last May 16.

The home of another son, George Jarvis Jr., was destroyed by fire last fall and a Baltimore police detective was brought here to determine whether the fire was incendiary.

AUTO LICENSE, FISHING BILLS WIN APPROVAL

Gov. LaFollette Signs Two Emergency Measures to Make Them Laws

Madison—(AP)—Gov. LaFollette today signed two bills sent through the legislature as emergency measures. One is the Blanchard bill to extend the time for 1931 automobile registration to May 1. The other is the Keppel bill to permit ice fishing in certain waters until Jan. 1, 1932.

The registration measure passed through the legislature in speedy fashion yesterday because of the statutory deadline of March 15 for automobile license applications. There were only three dissenting votes, and the bill was immediately messaged to the assembly, which passed it under a suspension of rules.

The ice fishing bill was introduced early in the session, but numerous amendments impeded speedy passage. It affects 27 counties, some having fishing in all waters, and others in specific lakes and streams. The counties affected are:

Barron, Buffalo, Burnett, Crawford, Dane, Douglas, Eau Claire, Jackson, Jefferson, Lacrosse, Kenosha, Marathon, Oconto, Outagamie, Pepin, Pierce, Polk, Portage, Racine, Rock, St. Croix, Trempealeau, Vernon, Walworth, Washburn, Washington, and Waukesha.

PLANES RUSH SERUM TO EPIDEMIC REGION

Point Barrow—(AP)—Two airplanes bringing a new supply of antitoxin for this diphtheria-stricken village were awaited anxiously today. Joe Crosson and S. E. Robbins, Alaska airmen, left Fairbanks yesterday with the serum.

Crosson landed here last Sunday with a quantity of antitoxin, which soon was exhausted. Several new four virulent cases yesterday. The hospital is overflowing with patients and the less serious cases are being cared for in homes. The seriousness of the epidemic recalled former epidemics that have visited this little northernmost white settlement in North America.

Thirty-five years ago, old timers said, death rode through the settlement on the wings of a measles scourge to which 40 per cent of the population succumbed.

OKLAHOMA REGION IS ROCKED BY EXPLOSION

Tulsa, Okla.—(AP)—Tulsa and its environs were shaken early today by the explosion of 400 quarts of nitroglycerine stored in a magazine two miles west of Red Fork, near Tulsa.

Scores of windows were broken and thousands of persons were alarmed by the shock. Officials of the American Glycerine company, owners of the explosive, said no watchman was on duty and that no lives were believed to have been lost. They expressed the opinion a grass fire might have been responsible.

A hole 20 feet in diameter and more than six feet deep was blasted from the earth. Trees near the scene were torn into ribbons. Small bits of the steel house which covered the explosive were found miles distant.

The explosion was heard at Vinita, Okla., more than 65 miles away.

San Diego, Calif.—(AP)—With entry today into the Los Angeles "love market" case of a fourth girl victim said to be 15 years old, Inspector Harry Leigh of the San Diego district attorney's office, expected to go to Los Angeles for further investigation.

Baugh was understood to have learned of the fourth girl, but details have not been revealed. The bazaar is alleged to have furnished girls to wealthy men for parties.

Olivia Day, asserted proprietress of the market, and William Jobelmann, her alleged partner, are expected to be brought to San Diego next week for arraignment on statutory charges.

Ingram Unleashes Bitter Attack On Sen. Cashman

Resents Statements on Gas Bill—Schmiege, Burnham Fishing Bills Passed

Madison—(AP)—Sen. John E. Cashman, chairman of the senate committee on highways, was bitterly denounced in the assembly today by G. Eric Ingram, Eau Claire, for statements appearing in a Madison newspaper in connection with the 4-cent gas tax bill.

Assemblyman D. M. Langve, Westby, appeared before the assembly highway committee in opposition to the administration highway bill, sponsored by Cashman, objected to the statement that "the thwarted ambitions of some men will sour their disposition and color their outlooks."

Ingram said, "If he had objection to our arguments before the committee why shouldn't he have voiced them at the time instead of going behind our backs to the press."

"Sen. Cashman said the Progressives have nothing to fear despite Mr. Langve's subterfuge for opposing his bill. Let me remind the assembly that two months ago this same senator was stalwart candidate for president pro tem of the senate and has shifted his affiliations with this and that party numerous times."

"I am sure myself cannot here to have reflections thrown against us by such a member of the senate."

Assemblyman Ingram's speech, granted as personal privilege, was followed by the most rousing applause heard in the lower house this session.

Appearing before the assembly highway committee Wednesday, Assemblyman Langve declared that passage of the Cashman bill would bring about a serious breach in the Progressive ranks in 1932. Cashman, present at the hearing, retorted that it would have no such effect.

In his statement, Cashman outlined his bill, adding that "if these things do not meet with the approval of Mr. Langve, then 1932 may have more votes for Mr. Langve than for the Progressives, because they are carrying out a platform pledge to increase the gas tax in order to lower the tax on general property for highway purposes."

For almost three hours the senate listened to a debate on the power district bill and finally took a recess until 9 o'clock P. M. Sen. O. S. L. Mills, Mauston, author of the power district bill, and Sen. George Blanchard, Edgerton, author of a substitute, occupied the floor.

Among the bills passed by the assembly today were:

By Burnham—Prohibiting trout fishing in the streams of Waupaca county from one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise.

By Schmiege—Opening the fishing season for hook and line fishing in Wolf river, Outagamie co., except for large and small mouth bass, sturgeon and trout.

1,200 GERMANS HELD AFTER POLITICAL RAID

Hamburg, Germany—(AP)—Fifteen hundred persons were arrested by police here last night in what was probably the largest political raid ever staged in Germany. Of the 1,500 about 1,200 will be prosecuted for disturbing the peace.

Police learned that Communists had forged a considerable number of tickets for a meeting of fascists. They waited until about 4,000 persons were in the meeting hall, then closed the doors and conducted a two hour examination of the admission cards to detect the forgeries.

It took 18 police trucks many trips to transport those arrested to police headquarters and the city hall, where 300 persons were released after a second scrutiny of the tickets which lasted until daybreak.

After the meeting had been purged of red the fascist brown shirts posted a heavy guard and the fascist minister of interior of Brunswick, Anton Franzen spoke undisturbed.

TWO PREMIERS WIN BY FIVE-VOTE MARGINS

Canberra, Australia—(AP)—The life of the Australian federal government was saved by a narrow margin today when an opposition motion of non-confidence was defeated 38 to 23.

J. G. Latham, leader of the opposition, moved the motion in the house of representatives last Friday, accusing Labor Premier Scullin's government of vacillating, and failure to reduce expenditures and grapple with unemployment, which has reached tragic proportions.

MCDONALD ALSO WINS
London—(AP)—Ramsay MacDonald's government escaped defeat by only five votes in the house of commons today on a motion to reduce a supplementary estimate of £14,000 (about $70,000) for salaries and expenses of the mines department.

FURTHER MOVE UP TO DANE-CO, PROBES STATE

Majority Report Scores "Flagrant Attempt to Influence Legislation"

Madison—(AP)—Further action on Governor LaFollette's charge that an attempt was made to bribe Senator P. J. Smith, Eau Claire, in connection with public utility bills, lies with the Dane-co district attorney. It was agreed today in reports announced by the state senate investigating committee.

The majority report, signed by Sess. Herman J. Severson, Iola Progressive, and Eugene Clifford, Juneau Democrat, believes that the investigation established "a flagrant attempt by public utility officials and agents to influence legislation by improper and unlawful methods."

Sen. Walter S. Goodland, Racine conservative and chairman of the committee, offered a minority report in which he contended the committee found no evidence that would lead it to recommend prosecution.

While the majority report held that the district attorney should receive the testimony "with a view toward possible criminal prosecution," the minority report suggested that testimony be received by the attorney general and district attorney "for their review and for such action, if any, they deem it advisable to take."

Origin of Charges
Several weeks ago Sen. Smith reported to Gov. Philip LaFollette that Paul Raible, Chippewa Falls, and Ethan Miner, New Richmond, both former assemblymen, had visited him in regard to pending legislation. After several drinks, Raible, according to Smith's statement, said that "if things went right" on two power bills he would see that the senator received the same salary as that drawn by the senators elected at the last election.

The special senatorial investigating committee held several hearings on the governor's charge. W. J. Hagenah, Chicago, vice president of the Byllesby Engineering and Management corporation, testified that he employed Miner to aid him during the legislative session and that Raible was employed as local counsel for the Northern States Power company, a Byllesby subsidiary.

While the minority report absolved the Byllesby company of any influence that inspired a bribe offer, the majority said it struck directly at the corporation, saying:

Hits Holding Companies
"We believe that this case should not end with the criminal prosecution of the paid agents of the utility corporations whose interests they represented in the manner which has been recited."

"The most serious aspect of the entire matter is that great foreign holding companies controlling important public utilities in this state should employ agents who stoop to methods such as have been disclosed in this case. The Byllesby corporation cannot escape responsibility for the acts of Raible and Miner, whom they employed in such a secret manner. It is shameful that great utility corporations should allow their lobbyists to pose as representatives of farmers' organizations and as legislative agents for towns."

"It is still more shameful that they should keep no records for their services, pay them in cash and never ask them to itemize expenses. The employment of former members of the legislature for lobbying activities other than bona fide appearance before committees as counsel is of itself a violation of the lobby law. The retention of Raible, and perhaps of Miner, after the disclosure of their conduct on Feb. 4 is still more unexplainable."

"We would be derelict in our duty if we did not record our condemnation of such methods and did not call attention to the fact that the alleged farmers' representative and the 'dry' purveyor of liquor are not the only culprits in this case. At least equally culpable are the corporations which furnished the cash for their activities. And the pity of it is that consumers pay for it all in the form of higher rates for electricity than are necessary."

Sen. Goodland held that, "as a constituent of these towns, Mr. Raible had the right to intercede with Sen. Smith for the defeat of these bills as long as he confined his discussion to legitimate arguments and refrained from the offer of any inducement or improper influence."

"It must be conceded that any discussion of legislation with a member of the legislature... should contain not even a suggestion of remuneration or reward to the member of the offer of any service of value to said member."

"There can be no question as to the impropriety of such an act and to this extent the conduct of Mr. Raible, in this instance, is subject to severe censure, even though, as he states, there was no thought on his part of a deliberate attempt to bribe."

Expense accounts have been filed by 10 candidates in the primary election. Tomorrow is the last day for filing these accounts before the primary.

Three of those who filed, Fred Slovert, L. F. Bushey, and Phillip Vogt, incurred no expense. The others are: Oren Earle, $4; James Gerhart, $4.50; Wenzell Nassmann, $15.55; W. H. Vanderheyden, $5; C. O. Davis, $12.52; J. W. Doyle, $15; and Marcus Baumgartner, $12.

Prosecution Ridicules Denison Defense At Liquor Trial

JURY SOON TO CONSIDER FATE OF EX-OFFICIAL

Story About Trunk of Dishes Is Called "Fairy Tale" by State

BULLETIN
Washington—(AP)—The trial of Edward E. Denison, former representative from Illinois, on charges of possessing liquor was given to the jury today at 2:15 p. m.

Washington—(AP)—The defense claim that the liquor-laden trunk found in the office of Edward E. Denison, a former Illinois representative, two years ago, was not his own, but one which in shipping had become mixed with a similar trunk of dishes, was ridiculed today in the closing prosecution arguments.

Attorney John J. Sirica, concluding the prosecution arguments, asked the jury to find Denison guilty of possessing liquor. He called for the same consideration to be given the case as would be given any other criminal proceeding and not give Denison the benefit of the doubt merely because he was a former congressman represented by able lawyers.

He said it was a "strange coincidence" that Denison should bring back a set of dishes as a wedding gift for Mrs. John Layne, wife of a former secretary, nine or ten years after they were married.

He said it also was strange that the trunk of dishes was addressed to John Layne at Denison's office when other baggage belonging to the defendant was addressed in his own name.

"You have a fairy story with all respect to the dishes and that's all you've got," Sirica said.

He asked the jury to find the Denison trunk, claimed to contain dishes and later found in New York by Charles E. Layne, Denison's nephew, was not sent on to Washington instead of being kept by Lane for ten days in New York before taking it to his (Layne's) home in St. Louis.

He said there was no evidence that Mrs. Layne of Washington ever got the dishes Denison said he brought back for her.

Denison denied to newspapermen published reports that the two-year-old incident leading up to his trial had cost him the last election.

Denison was serving his eighth term in the house when he was defeated last November.

"I ran 21,000 heads of my neck and then got beaten by the landslide," said the Illinois Republican.

He said his opponent last November was too much of a gentleman to mention the liquor incident.

Denison told newspapermen he had received a telegram from Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, Democrat, Illinois, offering to testify as a character witness, but that it came after the defense had rested the case.

Calla Case, "Filmy"

Closing for the defense, E. Hinton Jackson said the government conducted a "filmy prosecution."

He said the defendant took three trunks to Panama and brought back four, the additional one being an army locker he purchased at the government commissary at Balboa. All of the trunks were now accounted for, he argued.

Explaining why Lane, the nephew, took the Denison trunk to St. Louis, Jackson said it contained dishes for Lane's mother and sister as well as a small set for Mrs. John Layne in Washington.

"It was a natural mistake for the baggagemen to get the tags on the trunks mixed," he said adding the way, bill of Denison's shipments showed a number corresponding to that on the army locker produced in evidence as having been purchased by Denison in Panama.

"We say that the government in its disposition of this case," Jackson continued, "carelessly and in disregard of the rights of this defendant, failed to follow the usual procedure to establish the integrity of the samples. He referred to three bottles of liquor used as government exhibits in the trial."

William E. Leahy, chief counsel for Denison, told the jury a "comedy of errors" had been exhibited by the government and the "prohibition unit had passed the buck" to the district attorney's office.

Referring to Irving Goldstein and John J. Sirica, youthful assistant district attorneys, Leahy said:

"The prohibition unit has passed the buck to these two boys sitting here. In future when prohibition agents meet up cases and are afraid to assume the responsibility which is theirs, they ought not to be permitted to use the government's money and waste the time of its officials in trying to wash out the dirty linen of their own mistakes."

He attacked the integrity of the trunk and liquor samples offered as evidence by the government and said the prohibition agents could have established their proper identity long ago.

Warn Against Flying Kites Near High Tension Wires

Reports by linemen that youngsters already have started one of their favorite spring sports, flying kites, has led to an early issuance of the annual warning by Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., officials of the danger involved in the sport.

Officials agree that kite flying is a hazardous sport for youngsters and that they have no desire to discourage it, but they point out the dangers involved when boys attempt to retrieve kites which have become tangled in a maze of electric wires or in trees.

Unless there is a linemen near who is willing to bring the kite down, youngsters have been advised to let the kites flap to pieces in their lofty prison rather than risk being electrocuted on high tension wires.

There is little danger if the kite string is of ordinary cotton twine or cord and runs against the high tension wires, but when over ambitious boys attempt to fly mammoth kites with fine wire, it is serious, officials stated.

Power company officials warn parents against the practice of flying kites with copper wire, especially where there is danger of a kite coming in contact with high tension wires.

HUGE INCOME OF EXECUTIVE IS UNDER FIRE

Head of American Tobacco Co. Paid Over Two—Million Last Year

New York—(AP)—Having carried on a heated debate whether an executive is worth a million dollars a year, Wall-st suddenly finds that apparently it has one in its midst who received that amount in 1930.

The American Tobacco company is estimated to have paid its president approximately $2,383,000 last year. His services thus rewarded were extraordinary, as viewed from the annual earnings statement.

In a year that was either lean or unprofitable for many of the nation's leading corporations, the country's largest unit in the tobacco industry piled up a net income of $43,000,000 which was more than 40 per cent greater than the previous year when the country was prospering.

Nevertheless, the controversy over how a big corporation should reward executives for extraordinary services. Starting with litigation over the bonus system adopted by Bethlehem Steel Corp., which netted its president well over a million for 1929, a group of American Tobacco stockholders, headed by Richard Reid Rogers, has obtained permission through the supreme court of New York to inspect the company's books to learn details of its stock bonus plan.

The 1930 pay check of American Tobacco's president, George Washington Hill, amounted to a cool million and in addition the distribution of stock to employees, approved by the directors last year, put 13,440 shares into his strong box at the low price of $25 a share, or a discount of about $1,283,000 from the current market price.

Mr. Rogers and his group charge that this plan, as applied to all officers and employees who participated, amounted to a bonus of about $20,000,000. He seeks to enjoin this sale of stock to "insiders," as he called them, at such bargain prices.

FIREMEN CALLED TWICE TO FIRES AT SAME HOUSE

The fire department was called out yesterday afternoon and last night to the residence of Dr. Hans Johns, 206 N. Union-st., when fires broke out there. Damage estimated at $500 was caused by the first blaze, but little damage resulted from the second fire. The first call was received about 5:15 when a fire started in the basement because of the close location of a smoke stack to the ceiling. This blaze broke through to the first floor before it was finally put out with chemicals and water. The second fire started in a partition underneath the porch. It also was put out with chemicals.

TWO SUSPECTS HELD FOR INVESTIGATION IN BROOKS SLAYING

Find Shop in Which Killer's Automobile Was Retreared

San Diego, Calif.—(AP)—With two suspects held in widely separated cities and criminologists arriving from Sacramento and Los Angeles, officers today increased their efforts to find the slayer of 10-year-old Virginia Brooks.

The shop in which a tire on the killer's automobile had been retreared was found and an effort was being made to trace all tires handled recently by the shop. The design used checked with a plaster cast made of an imprint at Camp Kearney Mesa, where the school girl's dismembered body was found in a sack Tuesday.

Jerry L. Davis, 21, shepherd, sentenced at Salinas, Calif., for burglary, was questioned closely after he had urged his speedy transfer to San Quentin prison. He said he had herded sheep on the mesa where the girl's body was found. A lock of hair was forwarded here for comparison with strands found in Virginia's left hand.

Gerald Davidson, 40, was rearrested in Oklahoma City after officers here asked comparison of his finger prints with those of Gerald Dorset, a suspect in the girl slaying. Police there reported the fingerprint classification was the same and description of the prisoner and Dorset were similar.

Wilbur Announces Agreement For Big Slash In Oil Imports

ONLY ONE MAJOR CONCERN STILL REMAINS ALOOF

Standard of Indiana Striving to Clear Obstacles from Path

Washington (AP)—A voluntary agreement with the government by major importing companies to reduce oil imports several million barrels yearly was announced today by Secretary Wilbur.

Wilbur, chairman of the federal oil conservation board, said only the Standard of Indiana remained outside the agreement but that difficulties preventing it from joining in the program were being worked out as rapidly as possible.

He said the Indiana Standard is assisting all it can under its existing business contracts. The Gulf Oil company and Standard of New Jersey were included in the agreement, he said.

He also said he had been advised unofficially the Royal Dutch Shell company and the Pan-American Petroleum corporation had said they would cooperate as much as possible.

No Written Agreement
Wilbur pointed out today there was no written agreement between the companies or between the companies and the government but that the agreement was a pledge of each individual company to do all it could to curtail imports in line with domestic restrictions through proration.

"All we can do," Wilbur declared, "is to present the problem to the oil companies and ask them to work with us. The governors of the oil states are doing all they can to harness the flow of domestic production and the two oil supplies should be harmonized."

The limitation curbs primarily the inflow of South American petroleum. The negotiations with American importing companies were conducted by Secretary Lamont, member of the oil board, acting under instructions from President Hoover.

Secretary Wilbur declined today to say to what extent the agreement would reduce imports but said it was "several millions of barrels yearly."

Prize Winners Listed In Window Display Contest

At noon today came the announcement of the prize winners in the window display contest for Appleton merchants, sponsored jointly by the retail division of the chamber of commerce and the Appleton advertising club, with the names of the Pettibone-Peabody company, also a winner of the department store group.

This was the decision given by O. P. Fairfield, professor of art at Lawrence college and chairman of the judging committee which was composed of Professor Fairfield, Otto Achtenhagen, assistant professor of English and Wallace Evans, assistant professor of business administration, all of the college faculty.

The grand prize award was given to the Pettibone store because, in the opinion of the committee, this display represented the store and its stock most attractively to its clientele. The formal phase of spring opening was aptly expressed in the College-ave displays while the Appleton street windows dealt less formally, yet attractively, with several allied subjects.

Hughes, Hopfensperger Close The Pettibone windows did not go unchallenged for supremacy. High in the committee's estimation were the windows of the Hughes Clothing company and of Hopfensperger Bros. Inc. market on W. College-ave.

ASK ONLY HIGH TEST GRAVEL FOR BRIDGE

District Engineer Says Any Approved Company Can Supply Material

State highway department officials do not care what company supplies gravel for the new concrete bridge over the Fox river at Kaukauna as long as the gravel measures up to the standards set by the University of Wisconsin, and meets with the approval of the contractor, D. F. Culbertson, division engineer of Green Bay, stated Friday in answer to the complaint lodged by Outagamie-co supervisors over recommendation that gravel be secured from four companies mentioned in the specifications rather than Outagamie-co companies.

The Elmer C. Lake and Gravel company was not the only company whose product was mentioned in specifications, Mr. Culbertson said. To have named one company would have been in violation of the state law, so four were named, all four having submitted their product to the state university engineering department where it has been officially approved. Any Outagamie-co company submitting samples of gravel for test can supply the material, it was said, provided the contractor wants to buy it.

Awarding of the contract for the new bridge which is on Lawest and highway 55 at Kaukauna, will be made by the state highway department office at Madison as soon as the contract and job are completed. C. E. Meyer and Son Construction company, Oshkosh submitted the low bid yesterday, $297,325, the job to be completed in 240 working days. Stephens Brothers, St. Paul, was second low with a bid of $211,554.36, but promised to complete the job in 200 working days.

MESSAGES ONLY GESTURE FOR CONCLAVE

Democratic and Republican Committees Likely to Remain Silent

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1931 by Post Pub. Co. Washington (CPA)—The only political gesture that enveloped the Progressive conference was the telegram from Governor Roosevelt, Democrat, who pointed to his own achievements in water power policy and his work on unemployment as evidence of his Progressive sympathies and desires.

Senator Norris, insurgent Republican, has insisted the conference was not intended as a third party move but as a method of making the major parties more progressive.

Except for the question propounded by Senator Watson, Republican, the leader of the senate majority, no comment has been forthcoming from the regular Republicans and nothing has been said by the White House.

The chances now are that silence will be the rule from the Republican camp. This is the edict from Republican national committee headquarters.

The Democratic national committee is "unofficially observing" but is also saying nothing after Chairman Raskob's speech endeavoring to placate the conservatives who think the Democrats are too radical the national committee isn't likely to swallow the doctrines of the Progressive conference.

The coalition between the doctrines and the insurgent Republicans has come in for enough criticism as it is from the conservative Democrats.

So the telegram from Governor Roosevelt, which expressed his regret at being unable to attend, has a significance all its own. It means that the New York governor is not interested in what the Democratic national committee as such may do or say about the Progressive conference, because he is going to express himself about it anyway.

Undoubtedly Governor Roosevelt wants to be known as a Progressive. Senator Dill, Democrat, of the state of Washington, is out with an interview to the effect that Mr. Roosevelt would make a good candidate and a good president of the United States. Mr. Dill belongs to the radical-liberal wing of the Democratic party. Incidentally, Senator Norris of Nebraska, talks Sunday of Mr. Roosevelt, too, and in the last election the Nebraska senator supported Governor Smith. So Mr. Roosevelt is not missing any bets and instead of avoiding the Progressive conference he is openly in favor of many of the things it has been discussing.

Much of the speech-making at the conference has had a familiar ring. All the speakers have said what was expected of them. The only thing of importance now is what they are going to do about it. And they insist they do not intend to start a third party. The political result is, therefore, to keep things as they have been—and to give warning that the next congress will see more conversation along the same lines as that heard at this week's conference.

PLEADS GUILTY OF PASSING BAD CHECKS

Albert Wilke, New London, was arraigned before Justice S. V. Johnson, Waupaca, Friday and pleaded guilty of passing worthless checks. He then was turned over to circuit court. Judge Byron E. Parks, for sentence next week. Wilke was arrested Wednesday at Mt. Horeb by Sheriff Arthur Steinhilber. He confessed passing checks totaling about $200 on Waupaca Merchants last fall.

Home Institute Sure To Please Women Attending Post-Crescent's School

The feature of the Home Institute will interest women of Appleton and adjacent communities when they attend the enlarged Post-Crescent Free Cooking school which Mrs. Charles Neidhamer, expert home economist, will conduct March 31, April 1 and 2 in Appleton high school.

Booths will be set up in the high school corridor for exhibits of modern appliances, foodstuffs and commodities used in the home. Women in the cooking classes will be given the opportunity to inspect these exhibits and see demonstrations of several home appliances that convert the task of housework into a pleasure.

In addition to demonstrating cooking methods, Mrs. Neidhamer will include the budgeting of time and money in her lectures. She will discuss short-cut methods for the housewife and present a working budget that will be invaluable to the woman who desires to learn more about kitchen and home management.

Facilities in the high school enable the Cooking school to be conducted on a much larger plan than ever before. The auditorium will provide accommodations for 1,000 women, who will have the added convenience of being able to take their lecture notes on the arm desks attached to the seats. Mrs. Neidhamer will talk from the large stage, where everyone in the audience can see and hear her perfectly. The exhibits are close at hand in the corridor into which both auditorium entrances open. These exhibits will give women the opportunity to actually see what types of new appliances are being used in the homes as well as learning how they operate.

Four sessions will be included in the school program this year. The first one will begin Tuesday afternoon, March 31, at 2 o'clock. The second and third sessions will follow on the next two afternoons beginning at the same hour. The last class meeting will be held in the evening of Friday, April 3, at 7:30.

Every day valuable prizes will be distributed to those attending the Cooking school.

DECIDE TO EXTEND SCOUT CAMPAIGN FOR 10 MORE DAYS

Workers Fall $2,000 Short of $6,500 Quota in Annual Drive

The 1931 financial campaign of the valley council of boy scouts was officially closed with a dinner party at Conway hotel Thursday evening, but when it was discovered that team workers had fallen $2,000 short of the quota of $6,500, it was decided to extend the drive for 10 days.

A group of workers will be appointed to continue the solicitation.

Thurs far only $4,500 has been subscribed to the scout fund, $723 being added in the drive Thursday, according to Herb Hellig, general chairman. It was pointed out at the dinner last night that there are still 474 prospects for team workers to call on. In the 1930 drive this group of prospects, which includes a large number of Appleton business executives who are out of the city this week, subscribed over $2,000.

The two team men composed of F. N. Belanger, council president and M. G. Clark, scout executive, stepped ahead of the other teams in the amount of money solicited during the three day drive. The pair challenged other team captains on the opening night of the drive to bring in more money. Thus far Mr. Clark and Mr. Belanger have turned in $730, all but $120 of which was in cash.

Mike Steinhauer, veteran of many boy scout financial campaigns, leads all other team workers with 38 subscriptions. Before the campaign comes to a final close, Mike hopes to hand in 50 subscriptions.

CORRECT 69 CASES OF DEFECTIVE TEETH

Sixty-nine cases of defective teeth among school children were corrected during February, the monthly report of the school nurses, Miss Mary Orblson and Miss Jane Barkley, reveals. BRITAIN ASKS INDIAN LEADER TO CONFERENCE

Baldwin Helps Clear Up Op- position Parties' Stand on Question

London—(AP)—The British government is extending an invitation to Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the Indian nationalists, to come to London shortly and participate in further negotiations looking toward granting qualified dominion status to India.

Concluding debate on India in the house of commons last night, J. Ramsay MacDonald, prime minister, announced that a second round table conference would be convened in London in the fall, and that prior to that time the federal structure committee of the first conference would meet here.

"It is hoped and expected," Mr. MacDonald said, "that members of the Indian Nationalist congress will come as delegates to the earlier meeting, and that Mr. Gandhi will be one of them."

The prime minister's announcement was made after the attitude of the opposition parties toward India had been considerably clarified by Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, who repeated himself and his workers to striving by every possible means to work out a solution of India's problems.

Tries To Meet Problem
"I shall carry out that policy as long as I am here," he said, "I shall do it not in a niggardly spirit but with every effort to overcome the tremendous difficulties facing us."

"But if there be those in our party who would approach this subject in a grudging spirit, who would have forced out of their hands one concession on India after another, if they be in the majority, let them in God's name choose another leader."

"If they be in the minority let them at least refrain from throwing difficulties in the way of those who have undertaken an almost superhuman task on which depends the well being and duration of the British Empire."

The address was accepted generally as Mr. Baldwin's denial that he had surrendered to the Beaverbrook-Rothermere press and to his former lieutenant, Winston Churchill. A recent party pronouncement implying a boycott on the next Indian round table conference had left his attitude somewhat in doubt.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL MEASURE IS PASSED

Hot Debate in Assembly Precedes Vote on Teach- er's Tenure

Madison—(AP)—The Groves bill guaranteeing teachers in the Milwaukee Vocational school security of tenure was passed Thursday by the assembly. The vote was 60 to 23.

The bill, was opposed mainly by Assemblyman Carlton Mauthe, Fond du Lac, and Moulton Goff, Sturgeon Bay. The author, Harold Groves, Madison; Speaker Charles B. Perry, Assemblyman E. M. Rowlands, and Ben Wiczynski defended the measure.

Assemblyman Mauthe, who supported the bill's engrossment, said the law was vague and that the cause for dismissal of teachers in the bill lacked definition. He compared teachers to laborers.

His opinion brought a sharp retort from Assemblyman Wiczynski a Milwaukee school teacher, who declared that teachers are not laborers but specialists.

Defending his bill, Assemblyman Groves deplored the attitude of members in objecting to the bill because it originated from but one school. "Because we move an inch at a time does it necessarily follow that an inch should not be taken?" he asked.

"This law is far from vague. It has been interpreted by leading educators of our state. The bill does not protect incompetence. It protects the independence of our teachers, gives them an opportunity to air differences with their superiors without the risk of being discharged. It promotes the principle of standing on one's rights. Too many of our teachers are intimidated by the communities in which they serve."

Charges of dictatorship were lodged against the director of Milwaukee Vocational school by Assemblyman Rowlands.

"The superintendent of that school has no concern but to foster and strengthen his dictatorship," he said. "He has all his teachers under a yoke and continually hamstringing them."

Your Birthday

If March 14th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:30 a. m. to 10 a. m., from 1:15 p. m. to 3 p. m. and from 6:30 p. m. to 8:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to noon, and from 4:15 p. m. to 6 p. m.

The astrological signs of March 14th denote an atmosphere of lassitude and a desire to loaf. Under such conditions, it will be useless to attempt to do anything of importance, and routine duties should only be essayed. The evening promises many agreeable surprises—especially to lovers.

Children born on this March 14th will be quiet and unassuming, but very capable. They will think logically, act with good judgment, and always have their emotions under control. They will lack enthusiasm, be fond of travel, and be adaptable. The home will be their chief delight.

If you were born on a March 14th, you are independent, both in thought and action. You weigh matters carefully, without being influenced by externals or emotion, reach a conclusion, and then take action in a deliberate manner. You are rather intolerant of the views of others, when they do not coincide with your own, although you claim, in season and out of season, to be a champion of free thought and free action. You are eminently practical and wordy, although there is a vein of mysticism in your life which baffles you. You are chivalrous, always play the game, and, at times, quixotic—especially when the interests of your friends are involved. If, in any undertaking, you are hampered by restrictions and limitations, failure must inevitably result. If, however, you are allowed to "gang your ain gait," and run things to suit yourself with the corresponding responsibility that a free hand implies, success is assured.

You command the respect and affection of subordinates. You direct them with decision, but without harshness. You possess exceptional natural ability. The one handicap which may hold you back in your march to a fixed goal, is your attraction for the opposite sex. Once you fall in love, you will fall heavily, and unless the one on whom your affections are centered is a worthy mate and companion, your life promises to be a shadow, rather than a sunbeam.

Successful People Born March 14th:

1—Joseph M. Smith—Instructor in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York.

2—Joseph P. Bradley—jurist.

3—Andrew Phillips—mathematician.

4—William E. Worthen—civil engineer.

TWO YEARS OF HOOVER
Mr. Hoover at the end of his first two years as chief executive is still something of an enigma, a sort of sphinx to many people, mostly because it appears foreign to his nature to adopt policies or pursue methods for scenic effects or to court personal popularity. He acts as though he knew not the word "expediency."

During the greater share of his two years he has encountered a rough voyage made acute by the world's sickness, for which he is not at all responsible and that cannot be cured over night by any specific or patent medicine.

If his administration is dissociated with the usual debates over matters of policy and tested entirely by the presence or lack of the sterling and durable personal qualities that go to make an executive great or imprint him as ordinary, this may be fairly said about it: it has been entirely honest; it has been straightforward and unafraid; it has been sincere; there has been no double dealing, no trucking for support, no logrolling or favoritism, none of the political maneuvers with which people are so familiar and by means of which a public official sometimes does something that he would not do were he not seeking applause or support at some future election.

The president is stubbornly and ruggedly honest. His honesty does not stop at his person but reaches as far through the various departments of government as one man can ever be expected to impel his personality. He appears entirely unafraid of consequences, with no thought of his own political success or future. He acts as though indifferent to the process called "making votes" but shows great interest in the service of the people. He is no buck passer. He takes full responsibility and is willing to fight, perhaps too willing. This condition represents his strength and, in these times of political unrest and turmoil, once the people come to fully appreciate the value that is there, may be able to withstand the shock not only of the sordid unpleasantness of economic dullness but also of the combined assaults of political opponents espousing causes that sometimes appeal to the popular imagination but are not always all wool and a yard wide.

It may be that a continuance of the present economic conditions will seriously jeopardize Mr. Hoover's chance of reelection. Certainly it will injure him greatly. It may be that prohibition will defeat him. Perhaps it should. But even carrying the handicaps mentioned a man with Mr. Hoover's strong points is not going to be easily overcome.

Given time and reflection and serious thought the tendency of the people is not only to be fair but to admire and then heartily support a chief executive who has courage, ability and honesty even when differing widely from him concerning some particular policy. Once the people become satisfied that Mr. Hoover is clearly doing what he believes to be right, although it might be more pleasant to act contrariwise, and that all the power of money and influence on the one hand and all the clamor and personal attacks of noisy minorities on the other cannot swerve him from his purpose, it is not unlikely that he may grow to great proportions in the popular imagination.

THE FOREIGN LEGION
That odd and eccentric though blindly courageous and unbeatable organization known as the Foreign Legion is gaily celebrating its one-hundredth anniversary, having been founded by King Louis Philippe, anything but a success as a king, and who would hardly be known to history at all were it not for the creation of the Legion. It is doubtful whether such an organization could be successful in any country but France, for France presents to the legionnaire the color and the romance, the music of band and language, the sparkle of eye and wine, that somehow or other prepares men to willingly enter into mortal combat. The Legion itself is never really understood except by those who are in close touch with it. The fact that now a full half of its members are of German blood is proof enough that there are many men who, all through their waking hours, feel in their souls the restless urge of martial music, to whom the companionship of the camp, the gaiety of the uniform, the ecstasy of danger, are full compensation for the grime of the march, the toil of the load and the white walls of the hospital.

Somehow or other it seems good that there is an organization that can absorb these men and give some surcease to their dynamic and throbbing energies, for they are neither cruel nor bad, most of them bighearted and generous, but when the band strikes up "Madelon" they would if necessary savagely claw their way through any obstacle, and with a lilt on their lips take up the cadence of the march, though whither they know not and care as much.

THE RECAPTURE CLAUSE
The Interstate Commerce commission is advocating the repeal of the recapture clause of the Transportation Act of 1920. This provides that one-half of all net earnings above a fair return for each railroad shall be paid to the government for the purpose of keeping alive the less profitable roads and encouraging new investment without giving unduly high returns to the more profitable roads. The act provides that the Interstate Commerce commission shall determine the valuation of the roads, and that six per cent of this determined value shall constitute a fair return on the investment before applying the recapture provision.

Since the act was passed there has been a great deal of argument as to the proper method of determining a road's value. The commission itself was divided on this point, and no definite basis of valuation was determined until May, 1929 when the supreme court handed down a decision in the celebrated O'Fallon case. This decision stated that in the valuation of a road, must be considered its cost of reproduction instead of merely the original cost, plus improvements and less depreciation, the method which has been decided upon by the Commerce commission. But in the same decision the court said that there are some, perhaps many railroads, the ultimate value of which should be placed far below the sum necessary for reproduction.

Changing conditions, new methods of transportation and competition may greatly reduce the value of a road below its cost of replacement. Prices of materials, equipment and wages vary from year to year, so that it is always difficult for the commission to keep pace in its valuations.

Commissioner Lewis states that up to December 31, 1930 it had cost $38,703,099 to value the railroads. Valuations are necessary so long as the government has the power to fix rates, but the recapture clause adds greatly to the complexities of the situation, and the enforcement of this provision will only result in continuous dispute.

Railroad earnings on invested capital are showing a decided decrease. Railway transportation is now going through a period of transition, the proper handling of which will affect its future stability. The proposed repeal of the recapture clause is only one indication that the government is concerned regarding the predicament of the carriers. There is growing recognition that efficient railway service is vital to business, and that the present level of efficiency cannot long continue unless regulations permit the roads to enjoy an income sufficient to pay dividends to contributors of railway capital equal to the return on investments in other lines of business.

Today's Anniversary

FRANCO-AMERICAN PACT
On March 13, 1778, the Marquis de Noailles, French ambassador in London, announced to the British government that his country recognized the independence of the American colonies, and that it had formed a treaty of friendship and commerce with them.
To the struggling colonies this news was received with great enthusiasm. In Europe, however, the reaction was different. Lord Stormont, British ambassador to France, left Paris immediately without informing the French government of his intention. Spain, which owned vast areas in the United States, also showed her resentment of the treaty.
Within a month France and England were at war, and Spain was kept friendly to France only by a secret treaty, which promised that France would recognize the United States dominion only as far west as the Mississippi river.

PREPARE yourselves for blizzards and snow folks . . . yep, we got the topcoat back from a blizzard and dared to wear it. It's speaking of blizzards. It's reported that Big Bill Thompson of Chicago is about to take credit for the snowstorm down there last week because it put 20,000 men to work . . .

Chicago and Cleveland are about to cross swords as to which one will get the Democratic national convention next year. Chicago claims to have everything a convention needs, particularly the auditorium space. But so has Cleveland.

In the interests of Chicago, perhaps a few public-spirited gang leaders might see fit to plant some pineapples beneath the Cleveland hall.

That crooning song—after all, spring is about here—we were trying to remember it. It's called "With All My Heart." With a slight cold or a saxophone you should do well with this number.

It's Not a Donation, It's a Donation
The judges in Columbus, Ohio, decided on a 10 per cent pay cut to help the city cut its expenses for a while. But the judges say they want the money back. The judges wrote up a resolution which, told by the Associated Press, "pointed out that the 10 per cent reduction is a loan to the city and not a donation. It further states that the donations must be paid back by January 1, 1932."

Evidently the A. P. doesn't take the judges very seriously.

HOUSEKEEPING
There are so many steps to take, So many tasks to do! Each day there is the bread to bake, The beds to make new, The floors to sweep, the chairs to dust, The silverware to shine, An endless fight with dirt and rust Appears this life of mine.
The whole day long upstairs and down With broom and pan I go, That he who labors in the town A restful place may know. These hands which once were soft and white Are dry and red and thin, And all those charms have taken flight Which once he came to win.
Lord, if his house shall lovely be Then ugly I must grow, For outhouse blooms must go! My youthful bloom must go! But sometimes when he casts his eye Upon my coarsened hands I wonder if the reason why He really understands?
Dear Lord, his friends he often brings To sup with us at night, He plainly takes great pride in things Which hold their lustre bright. But often when I look and sweep, I wonder does he see How anxiously I seek to keep His old-time pride in me? (Copyright, 1931, Edgar A. Guest)

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

THE EDUCATION OF DOCTOR ADAMS

He makes no false pretensions, and therefore appeals to me at once. "I am one of those men," he says, "doing general surgery who has never gotten away entirely from general practice and diagnostic work. I have always taken the position that a good surgeon must first of all be a good doctor." Too many operators pose before the profession as doing surgery exclusively, but play a fairly profitable general practice under cover to fill in the tedious waits between operations. And among these operators (they have a certain technical skill in dissection and repair but that does not endow them with surgical judgment) there are too many who take advantage of popular credulity and pretend to have knowledge and judgment which only years of general practice and study can give a doctor.

Doctor Adams, let us call him, goes on to tell how he often felt disgusted at surgical tonsillectomies which were done by throat specialists on his patients. Some patients, after being operated upon, would return with throat muscles so badly mutilated that their throats remained permanently uncomfortable. Now and then a patient suffered some such complication as cellulitis extending down the neck into the chest cavity and demanding prolonged surgical drainage thru external incisions; or perhaps an uncontrollable hemorrhage, but he says "I do not believe in washing the dirty linen of the profession before the public eye."

No? Well I do not believe in handing the public untruthful reports or suggestions about any health, medical or surgical question. Doctor Adams goes on: "I believe that the majority of the profession are sincere in their efforts to save human life and to relieve suffering. Yes? So do I. I cannot think that any doctor of standing or repute would subject any patient to even a slight unnecessary risk or suffering. This is not a question of knowledge. I am not criticizing the old timers, the standpatners, the reactionary doctors for their cruelty or crudity; I am criticizing them for their ignorance and intolerance."

Doctor Adams resumes: "I have always had under my care a number of cardiovascular-renal cases, besides patients with other serious conditions, where I felt that removal of infected tonsils would redound to their benefit, but I feared to remove them surgically under either general or local anesthesia."

Too many in our profession dismiss such handicapped patients with the assurance that nothing can be done for them. This is the story of the education of Doctor Adams. Let him go on with it: "I believe that where we can use a method that is practically devoid of danger. In competent hands, that is the method to be advised in all cases where it is practicable . . . and for the past three or four months I have been referring these patients to a man who removes tonsils with diathermy, with great satisfaction and benefit . . . glad to add my word of encouragement and approval for your work . . ."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
A Good Man Wins His Spurs
What causes "spur heels" and what method of treatment do you suggest? A friend of mine has them and he went to (a good surgeon) who advised against operation and told him there is very little that can be done . . . (J. S. E.)
Answer—That's more than I know about it.

Scraping An Acquaintance
For what reason must the be scraped? Is it just a business? Why are they so careful . . . ? (A. S.)
Answer—Question is out of order. Glad to give any information or advice I can about a correspondent's health or trouble.

Amnesia
Articles I have read about scopolamine-morphine anesthesia or so-called twilight sleep have interested me greatly. I gather that success in that line depends on finely trained, conscientious persons . . . what you think of it as a calling . . . (E. M.)
Answer—Only physicians can administer the drugs, or nurses under the attending physician's orders. If you mean to become a nurse and specialize in such work, that is fine, tho I believe there are already plenty of good nurses to do such work. What the hypodermic injections of scopolamine-morphine produce is amnesia, not anesthesia—that is, forgetfulness and indifference, not loss of sensation.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

The Tynmites met some natives who, it seemed, had nothing else to do but sit around and sing weird songs and play on funny things. Said a clowny, "That's a classy band and I can easily understand how it must be 'lot of fun to strum upon these strings." The strings that he referred to hung upon long braces, tightly strung. The Travel Man explained that they were instruments quite rare. "They make them all themselves," said he. "At that they're clever as can be. It's strange how, just by plunking, they can play a pretty air."

One of the natives, strong and big, jumped to his feet and said, "I'll dig you little fellows all right down while we put on a show." They watched the show and it was grand and every Tynite clapped his hand. And the Travel Man exclaimed, "Come on, lads, we must go."

"I want to take you to a spot where you'll find more fun, like as not. It isn't very far from here, so we'll walk all the way. If we have any luck at all, before the night begins to fall, we're going to have some real fine trout, cooked just the proper way."

"You see, we're heading toward a stream. Depend on me, lads, it's a dream. I'll get some fishing tackle and we'll all try our luck. The trout are mighty big and, gee, you Tynites go good your eyes on me. Why, I'm so good I'll catch enough to fill a good-sized truck."

Of course the Tynites knew that he was kidding them. They laughed in glee. But soon they all were fishing. You could hear them laugh and screech. Wee clowny stood upon a rock and seemed to cast his hook a block. Then came a sudden shout from him, "cause he had caught a peach."

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington—Royalty is coming to Washington in April and Uncle Sam has his hands full to see that everything is executed according to protocol during the visit.

"According to protocol," is the diplomatic expression for making sure that the correct thing is done at the correct time and by the correct person. No more, no less.

The royal visitor this time is the King of Siam. Already the state department is scratching its head trying to find a solution to a difficulty attending His Majesty's visit. Here's the situation:

The king will land at Vancouver. From there he will proceed to the United States by rail. According to protocol, the minute he crosses the soil of the United States, the royal salute must be fired.

Where To Shoot
Just how this royal salute can be arranged is what worries the state department. The party will cross in the United States somewhere in North Dakota. The exact spot of crossing is in a remote section of the state, removed from the necessary facilities for such a salute.

What is to be done? Shall a detachment of troops and a cannon be dispatched to the point where, His Majesty first touches this country, to blaze away when he crosses the border, or shall the salute be delayed until he reaches Washington and be fired on the Union Station plaza? That's what must be decided.

However, those who must make the decision see one ray of hope: The king has asked that his reception be kept as informal as possible. Until he gets to Washington he will travel incognito, but then a king is a king and must be received according to protocol.

At any rate, the state department regards the situation as a matter of real concern, and will consider the question from every angle before a final decision is made.

Advanced Etiquette
The average person might think it a matter of little consequence where the salute should be fired, or whether it is fired at all. But not official Washington.

The utmost care is taken on such questions. International feelings are quite sensitive—may have unpleasant or even disastrous results.

The most minute details are worked out beforehand, and executed with meticulous precision. The government employs experts for this very thing. Of course, not everything can be anticipated.

Familiar is the story of the recent visit of a South American president to Washington. He was on salary and farm produce yielding not much more than half its former prices what are the people going to do?

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—Some of us upper east-siders were invited a few weeks ago to attend the annual ball of the Ivy Republican club.

"It is our desire," the invitation read, "to reach out and have you become acquainted with our organization."

They didn't have to reach far. We went to the Central opera house, up beyond the car barn on Third avenue to see what kind of a party the republicans gave.

Always a party man is our motto. Besides, the ticket was complimentary. That meant that all we had to pay was 50 cents for checking the overcoat, a 25-cent tip which the cloak room attendant demanded and another 25 cents for a red carnation which a young lady insisted on pinning on our left lapel.

What matter? Wasn't that, as the invitation said, "the one night of each year when we (republicans) get together and spend a pleasant evening socially?"

Political Party
An Irish cop was patrolling the rear of the neighborhood opera house when we trickled in. We thought we were in the wrong hall, but he reassured us.

"Then what's a New York cop doing in the republican party?" we inquired.

"Oh, that's all right," he said in the manner of one absolving himself. "I was a guest at the James A. Farley ball."

The James A. Farley association is the democratic organization of our neighborhood. The policeman stressed the word "guest."

So we took a chair in the aisle and sat down to watch the entertainment. Balancing teams and dancing trios, torch singers and hot-mamma singers were introduced by the master of ceremonies, who was none other than our old friend of Broadway and the radio, Nils T. Granlund.

Not only was NTG there, but he had brought along some of his prettiest girls from the Hollywood night club. And did they do the rumba!

The idea of the district political organizations is to get out the voters at election time. If the Hollywood girls didn't shake the votes into the party bag, then we're no political prophet, and who said we were?

Afterward the floor was cleared so that "those," in the words of the program, "who like dancing (could) enjoy themselves for several hours."

We spotted our butcher, and he didn't look as though he liked dancing. It looked as though his wife did, however, so he was a martyr. You could tell from his face that he was thinking of tomorrow, which was Saturday and twice as long in the meat market. That party gave him hot dogs to remember it by.

All Quiet
On the way out the cop was still doing sentry duty. He looked bored. "What's the matter?" we asked. "I'll bet the show wasn't any better at the James A. Farley party."

"Maybe not," he retorted. "But there hasn't been a fight all night."

placed in the private residence of a high governmental official during his stay. His valet was instructed that the president's every want was to be communicated to the state department. One morning the valet called and asked about having some suitcases sent.

His press told to give them to the butler. Soon the butler was phoning the state department in a panic: "His Excellency has sent 42 suits down to be pressed!"

A tailoring establishment was hired for the day.

IRELAND'S NAVY

Dublin—Ireland needs a bigger "navy" to protect its fishermen from the invasions of outlaw fishermen on their grounds. Fishermen contend that with a Free State Navy this would not happen. At present there is but one boat protecting the whole length of Ireland's coast, and it cannot do the job adequately. An increased "navy" would also reduce smuggling, it is said.

SENTENCING OF TRIO DEFERRED UNTIL MONDAY

Postponement Granted When One of Defendant's Attorneys Becomes Ill

Sentencing of William Clausen, former proprietor of the Log Cabin on Highway 47, and Stephen Nash and John E. Brooks, both of Chicago who have been convicted on charges of being accessories after the fact in the robbery of the State bank on Feb. 11, has been deferred until Monday. L. Hugo Keller, one of the attorneys for the trio, was ill and was unable to be in court Friday morning for the sentencing, so Judge Theodore Berg deferred the matter.

Clausen was found guilty by a jury Wednesday afternoon and Brooks and Nash pleaded guilty last Monday. Charges of robbery against the trio were dismissed, and charges of being accessories before the fact, preferred against Brooks and Nash, also were dropped. Clausen was found not guilty by the jury on the last charge. The maximum sentence possible under the charge faced by the three men is a year in the county jail.

No date has been set for settlement of the charges of robbery against Arthur Kruger, 17, and Charles Goretz, 15, both of Chicago, two of the youths who have admitted the actual robbery of the bank. Judge Fred V. Heilmann, before whom their cases are pending in juvenile court, said the district attorney had requested more time to investigate the ages of the two youths. Theodore Kruger, a brother of Charles, pleaded guilty to a robbery charge, and is under a sentence of from 20 to 30 years in the state reformatory at Green Bay.

Every newspaper shop has its "ad-alley," which in reality is that section of the composing room in which the advertisements are set up in type. The foreman of this particular part of composing supervises the layout and marking of all the local advertising copy after it comes into the composing room.

John A. Bergman, who is finishing his twentieth year in newspaper work, is the Post-Crescent advertising make-up foreman. He learned the printing trade in the office of the Kaukauna Times when that paper was being published by C. E. Raught and C. J. Winsey. In 1911 he came to Appleton to work with the Evening Crescent as make-up man, and worked with that firm until the consolidation of the Daily Post and Evening Crescent in 1920.

He started out in Kaukauna as the errand boy and press feeder, serving his apprenticeship to become a printer. He was born in Kaukauna and began working when he was nine on a farm. He graduated from Holy Cross school in Kaukauna before coming to Appleton. His early work with the Post-Crescent included linotype work and the composition of advertisements.

Mr. Bergman is a member of St. Joseph church, and is the present vice president of the Holy Name society. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus, the Catholic Order of Foresters and St. Joseph society.

Mr. and Mrs. Bergman live in their own home at 519 N. Richmond st. Robert, 15, their oldest child is a student at St. Lawrence college, Mount Calvary, Wis. The other children who attend St. Joseph school, are Ruth, 12, and Harold, 10.

Golf and fishing are the two hobbies of Mr. Bergman when he isn't working. Besides being with the Post-Crescent, he has been in the fire and automobile insurance business for 11 years.

HANTSCHER IS NOT OPPOSED TO CHANGE IN ISSUING PERMITS

County Clerk Says He Will Need More Help, However, if Measure Passes

John E. Hantscher, county clerk, is neutral over the proposal to have automobile licenses issued by county clerks. He said he is willing to abide by the wishes of the people.

At the November session of the county board the supervisors adopted a resolution favoring the change, providing the state reimbursed the county by paying 40 cents to the county for each license issued.

Mr. Hantscher pointed out that there were about 12,000 licenses issued in Outagamie-co last year. He said he believed it would be necessary to add several persons to his working staff during the period when license applications are made.

He said he didn't think the new system would be any more costly than the one under which the state now operates.

Questions were sent to all county clerks on the matter and of the 46 that have answered, 23 were opposed to the change and 18 were in favor of it. Mr. Hantscher was neutral. Nearly all of the clerks ask for additional compensation if they are to do the additional work.

Several of the county clerks estimate that county registration by 71 county clerks will be more expensive than the present system, and a number contend they must be provided with large offices if they are to acquire special licensing equipment. One argument in favor of the change is that it will distribute employment over the state instead of having several hundred employees concentrated at the Madison auto license bureau.

If the voters ask for county registration the legislature will have the problem of carrying it into effect. Just what the final bill would provide remains a mystery.

For one thing it probably will be found necessary to maintain a central state auto license division for

Warn Motorists To Draw To Curb For Fire Department

More firemen are killed or injured while going to fires than at fires, according to a bulletin received by Fire Chief George P. McGillan from the Wisconsin Industrial commission. These injuries and deaths occur through accidents between the speeding apparatus and private trucks and automobiles.

Compliance with and strict enforcement of sections 50.20 and 50.21 would prevent most collisions, the commission points out. The provisions of these sections are, that "upon the approach of any authorized emergency vehicle (fire department trucks are such), giving audible signal by siren, the operator of every other vehicle shall immediately operate the same to a position as near as possible and parallel to the high-hand edge or curb of the roadway, clear of any intersection of highways, and shall stop and remain in such position, unless otherwise directed by a traffic officer, until such emergency vehicle shall have passed."

It shall be unlawful for the operator of any vehicle other than one on official business to follow any authorized emergency vehicle in response to a call or alarm, closer than five hundred feet, or to drive into or park any such vehicle within a block where fire apparatus has stopped in response to an alarm.

Another provision is that street cars also must come to a stop, clear of intersections.

Excessive speed with heavy fire department trucks is dangerous; but the apparatus must move with reasonable speed in response to an alarm, as the first few minutes are the important ones at a fire. Delays along the way would mean a much heavier fire loss and may even result in a conflagration. For securing the lives and limbs of firemen and for the protection of property, fire department apparatus must have the right of way in answering alarms, and must have a clear field to work. It often happens that during the progress of a bad fire the chief desires to change the position or location of a bumper or other apparatus; but is unable to make the change on account of being blocked by private cars of meddling, curiosity seekers. Policemen must help to regulate the traffic on the street and to keep private cars out of the block in which a fire is being fought. Fire department officers also have police powers at times of fire.

It may not be out of place to caution fire truck drivers to sound their sirens sparingly or not at all when returning from a fire. In this way the public will learn more readily to clear the roadway on hearing the siren. Returning, the fire apparatus is not privileged over other vehicles.

17 States, 2 Foreign Lands Send Students To Lawrence

Seventeen states and two foreign countries are represented by students at Lawrence college this year, according to Olin Meade, registrar at the college. Rafael Elizondo, a Mexican who took his secondary education at Saltillo, Coah, Mexico, is entered as a special student in the college of arts, and Miss Margaret Holly of Sudburg, Ontario, is enrolled as a freshman.

Among the states Wisconsin leads by a large margin, having 684 students, while Michigan is second with 73 students. Illinois is third with 54. All holding the same relative positions which they have occupied for four years. Minnesota is fourth with six boys and nine girls and New York state is fifth with four students. Indiana is sixth with two boys and a girl registered and California, Florida, New Jersey, Ohio and South Dakota each have sent two students. The six states which are represented by one student each are Iowa, Kentucky, Maine, North Dakota, Pennsylvania and Washington.

No other coffee has such taste-thrilling flavor because no other coffee is roasted as Hills Bros Coffee is roasted... evenly... continuously... a little at a time

Evenly... continuously... a few pounds at a time—that's Controlled Roasting.

Notice how closely this exact process agrees with your rule in cooking. When you prepare foods in small quantities you control every step and achieve flavor, consistency and texture that never could be secured if you cooked "in bulk."

When you open a can of Hills Bros. Coffee it is as rich in fragrance and appetizing flavor as when it came from the roasters. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed and kept out of the vacuum can in which Hills Bros. Coffee is packed. Coffee packed in ordinary tins, even if air-tight, does not stay fresh. Hills Bros. Coffee is sold everywhere. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can.

No can of Hills Bros. Coffee will ever "go stale." The vacuum can keeps it FRESH ALWAYS!

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE slim figure in masculine attire didn't look like the train at either entrance. Jack watched one and Sue the other.

"Afraid of being watched? Just as I thought," Jack nodded. "Come on, Sue, quick! The taxicab. She will drive it back."

He grabbed Sue's arms and piloted her through the crowd quickly. Just as he opened the station doors the taxicab at the entrance rolled away.

"So that's it. I'm parked across the street," Jack said. "We'll follow."

It was raining again but they had green of the traffic light for several blocks. The taxicab rolled on, and Sue's red tail light blinking ominously.

Once free of the town and headed for the country, Jack slipped lower behind the wheel and let the car go faster and faster.

"We won't get close enough to let her recognize us, but we'll keep an eye on the cab and return it," he said. "I'm afraid this is the end of Corrine's after night rambles."

"Jack, it's late, isn't it?" Sue asked after a while. "And tomorrow is the trial, and what do we know, after all? Just that two pieces of writing are the same, and Sybil dressed like a man came to meet someone here tonight."

"We have another clue, though," Sybil said. "Sue was going to a masquerade party. It isn't 11 o'clock yet. This whole act hasn't taken very long. We're going to call up her home and ask where the party is, say that I just got into town and met someone.... Harry Becker, for instance, who told me to come up. I'll be a fictitious person. If there isn't a party, and there isn't.... there's some more evidence to strengthen our chain. We can prove on the witness stand that Sybil said she was masquerading merely for a party, and there wasn't a party. Otherwise, they would ask us how we knew so much."

"Sue felt a little more relieved as she sped along the road with Jack. His arm slipped around her and held her close. She had found the thing she wanted, she mused in a self-satisfied way. She had come through tears and fears, and other loves and laughter, and much sacrifice, but she had found it. Jack was with her. He was in love with her."

And far down the road the red light winked ominously and defied them to come nearer.

They came to the edge of the city, mingled with the traffic, but kept the taxicab in front of them for a little while.

"It's late now, don't you think, to wander past? Sybil hasn't seen me," Jack suggested pretty soon.

Sue nodded and sat erect again, patting the dark curls into place as they tumbled under her close-fitting hat.

The car moved on more quickly, leaving alongside the taxicab, and then was held up by traffic.

Sue was restless suddenly. She wanted to see the figure at the wheel of the cab.

Jack stepped on the gas a little hard. Now they were almost abreast. Now they were passing. Sue and Jack both glanced in. Then they gasped simultaneously.

TRUTH MIRROR FINDS DEFECTS IN YOUR BEAUTY

BY ALICIA HART

Many legends have been built around mirrors. Gazing into them certain ways in certain nights a man or a maid are supposed to be able to see their future. With a bit of witchcraft, one is supposed to be able to see therein the past of another person or himself.

But you will note that most of these legends include a reservation of some kind. It must be a certain night, a certain way you hold the mirror, a certain frame of mind in which you look.

Now all of these bits of witchcraft should be applied to your own mirror. I thoroughly believe in having a rosy shaded mirror to look into. Especially as you start out the door to attend a party, to go to work, to take a train traveling.

But, before you let that rosy shaded mirror lend its glamorous enchantment to the picture you make, you should be honest in the confines of your own room and have a truth mirror.

There are many new mirrors on the market that enlarge your face as you look in, showing the defects in make-up or skin texture that you should concentrate on improving.

There are other new mirrors that have electric lights in them to highlight your face as you gaze. You can make your own truth mirror by getting the right light on your own looking glass. Pull the shades up to the top of the window, pull your dressing table over into a good, strong south light and then see if your hair is getting a little drab, if maybe you shouldn't tint it, or treat it, or brush it more carefully or maybe have an entirely new coiffure worked out.

See if your eyes look as bright as they should. How about devoting at least one night a week to sleep from eight o'clock in the evening on? Or how about getting to bed at 9:30 for a week or two?

Maybe your skin looks a bit yellow or a bit gray. Both may be due to digestion, though the gray look may come from an overstimulated heart action and you should consult a physician.

If you look just a little lack-lustre all around, you probably need two things, rest and some new clothes. I know that this is a bad year to speak of either. But certainly you can get absolutely rested. Then you will be able to make a much better decision about the few new togs you may be able to get.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

Dear Miss Vane: I'm in the peculiar position of knowing that my husband isn't quite sure of whether he loves me or another girl. I have a dear little baby and I love my husband. I want him. But also I want

Run-Down, Weak Nervous?

To have plenty of firm flesh and the ability to do a big day's work and feel "like a two-year old" at night, you must eat three good meals a day, relish your food and properly digest it. If you can't eat, can't sleep, can't work, just give Tanlac the chance to do for you what it has done for millions.

Mrs. Fred Weston, of 387 E. 5th St. North, Portland, Ore., says: "Tanlac cured my stomach trouble completely after three years of suffering. It built me up to perfect health, with a gain of 27 lbs. That was two years ago, and I still enjoy the best of health."

Tanlac is wonderful for indigestion and constipation—gas pains, nausea, dizziness and headaches. It brings back lost appetite, helps you digest your food, and gain strength and weight. It contains no mineral drugs; it is made of roots, barks and herbs, nature's own medicines for the sick. The cost is less than 2c a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist. Your money back if it doesn't help.

him to be happy. He has been perfectly honest with me. He feels badly about the whole thing. He is fascinated with the other girl and feels that he cannot live without her. At the same time he is too fond of me to give me up. Also if he gave me up he might lose his job. He would certainly lose all contact with his own family. What am I to do? He keeps the other girl now and he is kind and considerate and sweet to me, but I am desperately unhappy.

VERONICA.
You mustn't let this situation go on as it stands. Your husband is growing used to having his love affair and his calm peaceful married life too, and the more he grows used to it, the more unwilling he will be to make a definite decision.

He must make the choice here and now. He's been weak and vacillating long enough. Either he wants the fascinating stranger or he wants his own wife and his child. Don't let him keep you waiting any longer. Every second's delay hurts your position.

The siren is gaining a stronger hold on him—and he is growing more and more used to taking you for granted as a pleasant peaceful background which need not interfere with his love life.

Give him something to worry about. Let him see that you're a personality to be reckoned with. Refuse to be just the comfortable easy side of his life. Stand up for yourself. Tell him to choose between you and the other girl. Maybe he'll find out then that you and the baby are as vital and necessary—in fact more so—than any number of dangerous and fascinating home-wreckers. Certainly he will never find this out if you complacently sit down and accept the situation as it is.

Get to work right now to break up this triangle. Even if you have to give him up forever you'll know greater self-respect and greater peace of mind eventually, than you can ever know under the present circumstances. Best of luck to you.

SUSAN: If you knew all the trouble you were likely to start with these cute little tricks of yours you'd cut them short at once. Jealousy is a damned unhandy thing to have around the house. Jealousy is amusing sometimes in a finance, but it's quite unbearable in a husband.

Think of having scenes and accusations as a steady diet for the rest of your life. Think of creating a situation in your own home where your husband is never able to trust you—where lack of faith leads to endless misunderstandings and bickerings.

Oh, don't make any mistake about it. You're training your rather hot-headed sweetheart to be a household pest. You tease him. You hint of other men. You pretend to be encircled in anyone and everyone but him.

And you think it's all great fun because just at present it's simply thrilling to have anyone as wonderful as Harry so madly in love with you.

But when you've got more used to Harry and he's after all just a husband, it won't be so amusing to have him making scenes every time you enjoy a dance with another man.

You'll get rather tired of being the central figure in a big red-blooded drama. You'll wish Harry was a little less temptingly jealous of your every move.

Don't build future trouble for yourself by playing tricks now. What is, for the moment an amusing game may become the most tragic thing in your life one of these days. If you like peace and if you like to live in happy surroundings, take care to keep your life partner peaceful and happy.

FARMERS PLAN CAMPAIGN FOR DAIRY CO-OP

Drive for Members to Start Immediately, Producers Decide

BY W. F. WINSEY

Neenah—At a meeting in the city hall here Thursday afternoon dairy farmers about the city decided to conduct a campaign for members for the proposed Pure Milk Producers' Cooperative. The drive will follow the milk routes from Neenah out into the county. Several members of the drive committee will present contracts and arguments to the farmers on each milk route. It is expected that the work will be completed in a day or two.

Before the drive starts, however, R. M. Orchard, assistant state attorney general, will explain the contract at a meeting of the drive committee of Outagamie and Winnebago counties in the court house at Appleton, Friday evening. Other speakers at the Appleton meeting will be County Agent G. A. Sully, R. Ames, chairman of the Pure Milk Producers' Cooperative, and H. W. Witte, president of the Madison Milk Producers' Association and a representative of the state department of agriculture and markets.

Although everybody was interested and took a hand in the discussions at the Thursday meeting, the principal speakers were Mr. Sell, Mr. Witte and Mrs. Ames. Mr. Sell said he hopes that the dairymen will join hands in local, state and national groups for the cooperative marketing of their dairy products. If they do that, it is reasonable to assume that when the time is ripe they will get a larger part than at the present time of the consumer's dollar.

"Our expensive system of distributing farm products is one of the causes of the suffering in cities from shortage of foods and the starvation prices the farmers are getting," Mr. Witte said.

"The high price is one of the causes of surpluses accumulating in storage plants."

Sees Large Plant
"I am looking forward to one large, dairy manufacturing plant for this milk producing district, owned and operated by milk producers," said Mr. Ames. "If you farmers decide eventually to build you can pay for a plant in three years' time and then you will own it."

"When you decide to build you need to get out on county signing drives, as your present contract provides for the building emergency. You can make use of the building section of your contract whenever your unit decides to do so."

If 25,000 farmers of Wisconsin sign the contract of the Pure Milk Producers' Cooperative beside the 10,000 signed up with the National Cheese Producers Federation, those two groups would be able to control the milk situation in Wisconsin. This is a splendid part of the Fox river valley for dairymen to pool their sales.

"We are not radical and we do not intend to become so, but we believe in working together and marketing our own dairy products. Let us forget our petty jealousies and get together as the people of all other industries were compelled to do to succeed."

"If all the people in this room would go out on the membership drive in a few days, you would see the contracts signed yourselves, neither Mr. Witte nor myself have time to help you. Nobody gets any pay for signing up members."

"Business men should support your cooperative movement in this locality as it means more money for you and more trade for them."

Points to Advantages
"Do you expect that you are going to get $2.50 per hundred pound for your milk as soon as you organize your unit with the Pure Milk Producers' Cooperative," cautioned Mr. Sell. "But when patrons of the big plants get together, they may expect to get a larger part of the consumer's dollar than they now enjoy."

"There are some questions about whether we are to have one unit or several units of the Pure Milk Producers' Cooperative about Appleton, Neenah, Menasha and Kaukauna, as well as one large unit."

"As soon as the majority of the patrons of each milk route in the Appleton milk producing area have become members of the Pure Milk Producers' Cooperative a mass meeting will be held to complete the organization work and to employ men to check weights and tests at the milk intakes. A committee will be appointed at the mass meeting to make a study of the milk price agreement problem."

It was made clear at the Neenah meeting that the signing of the contract of Pure Milk Producers' Cooperative does not bind a milk producer to any milk plant nor compel him to change his point of milk delivery.

COMMITTEES TO MEET
Neenah—The plans committee will meet Friday evening at the city hall where the revised signing maps and instructions will be explained by A. T. Franke, city engineer. The committee will study the maps.

CANDIDATES FOR JUDGE FILE THEIR PAPERS

Neenah—Nomination papers for J. L. Springer, Neenah, and F. A. Kuehner, Oshkosh, both candidates for judge of the municipal court, have been filed with George Mammel, Winnebago county clerk. Judge Springer is seeking election to the office. Appointed by Gov. Walter Kohler, he assumed office last Aug. 1, succeeding Judge A. H. Goss, who resigned.

Candidates for county offices must have their papers in the office of the county clerk by Friday.

COURTHOUSE COMMITTEE REPORTS ON EXPENSES

BOARD ELECTS FOUR MOTORCYCLE RIDERS

Officers to Start Patrolling County Highways on April 1

Neenah—Irving Stulp, Neenah; Edward C. Abel, Oshkosh; Julius G. Holte, Winnebago; and Harold M. Neenah, Neenah, have been elected as motorcycle officers by the Winnebago county board. They will patrol county highways during 1931. Salaries of Stulp, Abel and Holte were fixed at $225 a month. Nielsen, who succeeds Carl Kundinger, will receive $175. Their service will begin April 1. The officers will be required to furnish bond against any and all unlawful acts which may be committed by them. They also are to file policies of liability insurance covering the automotive equipment and motorcycles used. In voting for these officers, Supervisors Howett and Cotter of Oshkosh, were the only ones to vote in the negative.

Neenah—November, Supervisor J. B. Schell of Neenah stated when the 1932 budget is prepared approval of five motorcycle officers will be suggested.

Nielsen won the nomination for a place on the force when the committee considered Sheriff Nielsen's explanation of the need for more men in the northern part of the county, where there are more dance clubs, operated by bootleggers, and that during 1930, because of his residence in the northern area, Officer Stulp made as many arrests and attended to more matters than all the rest of the corps.

NEENAH SOCIETY

Neenah—Miss Blanche Hume, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hume, and Gailord Dahlstrom, both of Neenah, were married at 11:30 Thursday morning at the Presbyterian church parsonage. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. C. Jones in the presence of immediate relatives. A dinner followed at the Valley Inn, after which Mr. and Mrs. Dahlstrom left on a short trip to Chicago. Upon their return they will be at home at 609 Higgins-ave.

Miss Anne Pleasants entertained the Neenah chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Friday afternoon at her home at Menasha. The program was devoted to a review of the pioneer history of Wisconsin one hundred years ago.

A group of 16 neighbors of Max Schalk surprised him Thursday evening at his home on Main-st. Cards were played, and prizes in bridge were won by Mrs. Charles Sherman and E. W. Pettigill, and in schafkopf by John Koepsel and Charles Haire.

A group of Knights of Templars will go to Green Bay Friday night to attend a meeting of that chapter at which inspection will be conducted. Another group will go to Neenah Friday evening for the same purpose.

Next Friday evening Grand Lecturer Howard Kittlesley of Port Washington will be here to attend a meeting of the Neenah Chapter Royal Arch Masons.

FINE APPLETON BOYS ON DRUNKENNESS COUNTS

Neenah—Clarence Reim and Walter Meleika of Appleton were fined $25 and costs each for drunkenness, and ordered to keep away from Winnebago co dance halls for the next year by Municipal Judge S. L. Spangler Thursday morning. Complaint was made by M. L. Mucks, deputy sheriff, who took them in custody at a town of Menasha dance hall Wednesday evening. The court was informed that the Appleton men fought with the dance supervisors.

TWIN CITY DEATHS

MRS. JOHN RASMUSSEN
Neenah—Mrs. John Rasmussen, 73, a former Neenah resident, died Thursday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Anderson, at Oshkosh. Surviving, besides the daughter, is the widow, Anna, aged 75, who will be conducted at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Winchester church by the Rev. Madland. Burial will be at Winchester cemetery.

GEORGE E. KNISTER
Neenah—George E. Knister, 61, a resident of Neenah for the past four months, died Friday morning at the home of his son-in-law, George Elvers, E. Wisconsin-ave. Death followed a stroke of apoplexy. Mr. Knister was born Oct. 24, 1869, at Ontario, Canada. He was married Sept. 18, 1895, to Miss Minnie Plant. The couple came to Wisconsin immediately after the marriage, settling at Rhinelander where for the past 35 years he had been ticket agent for the Northwestern railroad.

He was a member of the Masonic lodge at Rhinelander. Surviving is one son, Dr. R. E. Knister of Clintonville. A daughter, Mrs. George Elvers, died a few months ago. There also are six grandchildren. The funeral will be held at 2:30 Sunday afternoon at the Elvers home. The services will be in charge of the Rev. D. C. Jones, pastor of First Presbyterian church. Burial will be at Oak Hill cemetery.

JOHN ZIELINSKI
Neenah—John Zielinski, 76, died at his home at 342 Milwaukee-st. about noon Thursday. He was born in West Prussia, July 4, 1854, but had been a resident of Menasha for over 40 years.

Survivors are his wife; five daughters, Mrs. Michael Gatz, Mrs. Walter Gatz, Mrs. Joseph Becker, all of Menasha, Mrs. Thomas Schumel of Milwaukee and Miss Mary Zielinski of Plainfield; three sons, Charles, William and Leo Zielinski, all of Menasha; and 12 grandchildren. Funeral services will be held from St. John's Catholic church at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, the Rev. W. B. Polacy officiating. Burial will be made in St. John's cemetery. The body will be removed to the residence from the Laemmlich funeral home Friday afternoon.

RUNDE BENEFICIARY IN PRISONER'S WILL

Neenah—Fred Runde, Neenah, who is confined in state prison at Waupun, was the sole beneficiary in the will of a fellow prisoner named Jule Beard of Ontario, Canada, who died in prison recently, according to a copy of the will which is in the hands of Neenah relatives. Runde and Beard had become close friends in prison. Runde was left $300 in the prison fund and property in Canada. Wishing the man to have a decent burial, Runde purchased a lot in the Waupun cemetery for the burial.

TWIN CITY GROUP PLANS GUN CLUB

Harry Boehm Elected Chairman of Proposed Organization

Neenah—Twin City Sportsman club met Thursday evening at Danish Brotherhood hall, with approximately 75 members present. H. A. Terrill, Oshkosh, will be engaged to make a survey of the bay and slough for the purpose of planting rice to increase the number of ducks and other wild birds there.

Harry Boehm was elected chairman of a gun club to be organized shortly. Edward Schultz, Kenneth Kuehl and Walter Lovejoy were elected on a committee to direct the gun club activities.

Word was received from the state that Neenah's club would be sent its allotment of eggs and young pheasants when the time comes. The eggs will be placed among farmers for hatching and distribution in the club reserve.

The proposed sturgeon laws were discussed. Bills are now before the legislature asking for both spearfishing and setting catching of this fish in the lake, the former during January and February and the latter during September and October. The club will start spearfishing for the proposed bait hunting law which would advance the time of hunting rabbits to between Oct. 1 and Jan. 1 instead of from Nov. 1 to Jan. 1.

Following the meeting, schafkopf was played. Prizes were won by Leo Madison, William Collins and Adolph Peterson. A fish fry was served by the wives of members after the card game.

MENASHA FIVE ROUTED, 27-2, BY W. DE PERE

Caldermen, Hopelessly Outclassed, Score Only Two Free Throws

Neenah—Hopelessly outclassed, Menasha high school basketball team was swamped, 27 to 2, by the West De Pere cagers in the preliminary round of district tournament play at the Neenah high school gymnasium Thursday afternoon. The Caldermen were held scoreless during the first half and were unable to sink a field goal during the entire game.

The outcome of the battle became apparent early in the first quarter and part of the crowd began devoting their time to comparing Carroll, Hugo De Pere guard, to "What-a-Shot" Shires. Carroll attracted attention by toping to a position about 30 feet from the basket early in the first period and dropping a field goal through the netting as if he could do it almost anytime. Cheers were heard whenever Carroll had the ball during the remainder of the game.

Scores Free Throws
Janssen scored twice on gift shots after Menasha fouled in an attempt to get into scoring position. Van Sistine began his afternoon's work with a field goal and Janssen repeated to establish an eight point lead for the De Pere cagers before the end of the initial period.

The second period was almost as tragic for the Caldermen as the first. Van Sistine evaded the Menasha defense to score two field goals while Janssen and Beauregard made successful free throws to make the count 14 to 0 before the end of the half.

The crowd, not too large at the beginning of the game, began to thin perceptibly during the 10 minute interval between halves. A number of West De Pere musicians and a part of the Menasha high school band was on hand to entertain while the rest of the fans waited for the game to continue.

Dribbles Through Team
Shortly after the reopening of hostilities, Lebl scored a single point for Menasha on a successful free throw, producing enthusiasm among the Menasha fans that belied the lack of any other counters. The point gave the Caldermen impetus for further attack but Wideman's gift toss was the only point added to the Menasha total during the remainder of the game. During the excitement, baskets by Skendore, Van Sistine, and Marquardt and three free throws by Skendore, gave De Pere an additional 9 points. The greatest entertainment was provided when Skendore dribbled skillfully through the entire Menasha team, left the field behind him in a race for the hoop, and dropped the ball after doing everything but scoring.

Content to devote most of their time to free throws, the De Pere quint loafed through the fourth period with only one field goal, scored by Deauregard, and a gift shot by Janssen. The Caldermen, scrapping frantically, but unable to penetrate the opposing defense, were again held scoreless.

COMPLETE CROSSING REPAIRS THIS WEEK

Menasha—Repair of the Racine-st railroad crossing, authorized by the common council Monday, will be completed this week, according to Peter Kessel, street commissioner. Concrete between the tracks and 21 inches on each side has been removed by street department employees, and after the tracks are raised, will be replaced by rock ballast and screenings.

Repair of the Racine-st intersection with the railroad tracks was ordered after investigation revealed that city pavement on each side of the tracks had raised several inches, creating a hazard to motor traffic. The railroad company is cooperating with city officials in providing materials and part of the labor.

Menasha—Scoring a 676 total in three games, John Staniak of the Marathon Mills team, set a dizzy pace in city league play on Hendy alleys Thursday evening. Rippl Grocers scored a 2,381 team total to win three straight games from the Schmitzer Red Tops; the Schlitz Brothers five won three games from the Blue Bills; and Storil's Five scored a triple win over the Santa Pulisheers.

The Anderson Cafe aggregation took two out of three tilts from the Sholt Oils in the hardest fought match of the evening. The Cafe team dropped the first game by 89 pins, tied in the second and won on the playoff, and squeezed out a win in the third game by a margin of only two pins.

A 2,943 total game the Menasha Hotel team wins in two out of three games with the Fairbach Agency; the Menasha building and supply team won two out of three from the Hendy Recreation league; and Acker's Nite Hawks won two out of three tilts with the Gilbert Paper squad.

HEAR ARGUMENTS CONCERNING NEW MILK ORDINANCE

Milk Dealers Will File Objections in Writing by April 15

Menasha—Arguments for and against adoption of several sections of the proposed Menasha milk ordinance, were heard at a public hearing in the city offices Thursday evening. Council members, appearing at a committee of the whole, met with about 15 milk dealers to discuss the proposed law.

Suggestions for any changes in the ordinance as written will be filed in writing by milk dealers before April 15, it was decided. The law was drafted by M. P. Crowley city attorney and will probably be presented to the council April 21.

Several suggestions for possible changes in the wording of the ordinance were made orally by dealers, but further action must be taken by the ordinance committee before presentation to the common council.

Would Guard Users
The law is designed to protect milk consumers in the city and will affect all dealers distributing milk here. The law defined terms used, and set standards for raw and pasteurized milk, prohibited adulteration, and provided for sanitary production and distribution of milk, cream, and milk products.

The first objection was made in reference to revelation of amounts of milk sold by each dealer when applying for a milk sales permit, and the matter was referred to the health officer and ordinance committee.

The law provided that a $50 license fee be paid by each dealer and $5 additional tax be levied on each wagon or vehicle delivering milk. Stores distributing milk centers shall pay a $2 license fee.

The ordinance also provided that dairies be inspected regularly, a tuberculin test of cattle be made once a year, and monthly medical examination of those handling the product be arranged.

That restaurants and similar institutions be compelled to dispense milk in the original containers and that cream sold at hotels and similar places be up to standard, be included in the ordinance, was suggested. Milk must be distributed within 24 hours after pasteurization, and dating of caps was deemed unnecessary.

The proposed ordinance is similar to the Appleton and Peoria laws, Crowley pointed out.

TAMMANY HALL STILL BACKER OF ROOSEVELT

Will Support Governor for Presidency in Preference to Smith

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright 1931, By Cons. Press
New York. (CPA)—It was learned Thursday from a former district leader of Tammany Hall, still high in its councils, that the organization, even in the event of an irrevocable break with Governor Roosevelt, will be prepared to support the governor as against Alfred E. Smith, if the two should be contenders for the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

Deeply resentful of the action of the governor in appointing Judge Samuel Seabury to investigate the office of the New York district attorney, Tammany is nevertheless determined to suppress any revival of the "new Tammany" movement, as symbolized by former Governor Smith and his adherents. The immediate defensive strategy of the hall, assailed by civic leaders, churchmen, business men and reformers, in the rising clamor for an administration "clean-up," is to prevent any reopening of the schism which nearly wrecked Tammany 30 years ago and which painfully embarrassed it in the last presidential campaign.

It is feared that even the appearance of an open break with the governor would open the way for an attack by reactionaries within the organization.

"Sit on Lid"

Orders have been sent to district leaders and organization workers to refrain from any hostile comment on Governor Roosevelt. "Sit on the lid," is Tammany's rallying cry just now. It is more intent on solidifying its own forces than in meeting the attacks from without.

Other important developments of the day in the civic movement against alleged official corruption were as follows:
Neither Mayor Walker nor District Attorney Grady will resign. Reports that one or both might withdraw were emphatically denied. From authoritative sources it was learned that the administration strategy will be to place the entire burden of proof on the challengers and to enter into no controversy other than that completed by legal procedure.

For the present, the official investigation of New York city affairs will be confined to Judge Seabury's investigation of the office of District Attorney Grady and will not be extended to Mayor Walker, Henry Morgenthau, financier, philanthropist and close personal friend of Governor Roosevelt, who is supporting the movement for a sweeping investigation, as advised by Governor Roosevelt indicated a similar belief. His statement that no investigation of Mayor Walker's office would be begun unless specific charge were preferred.

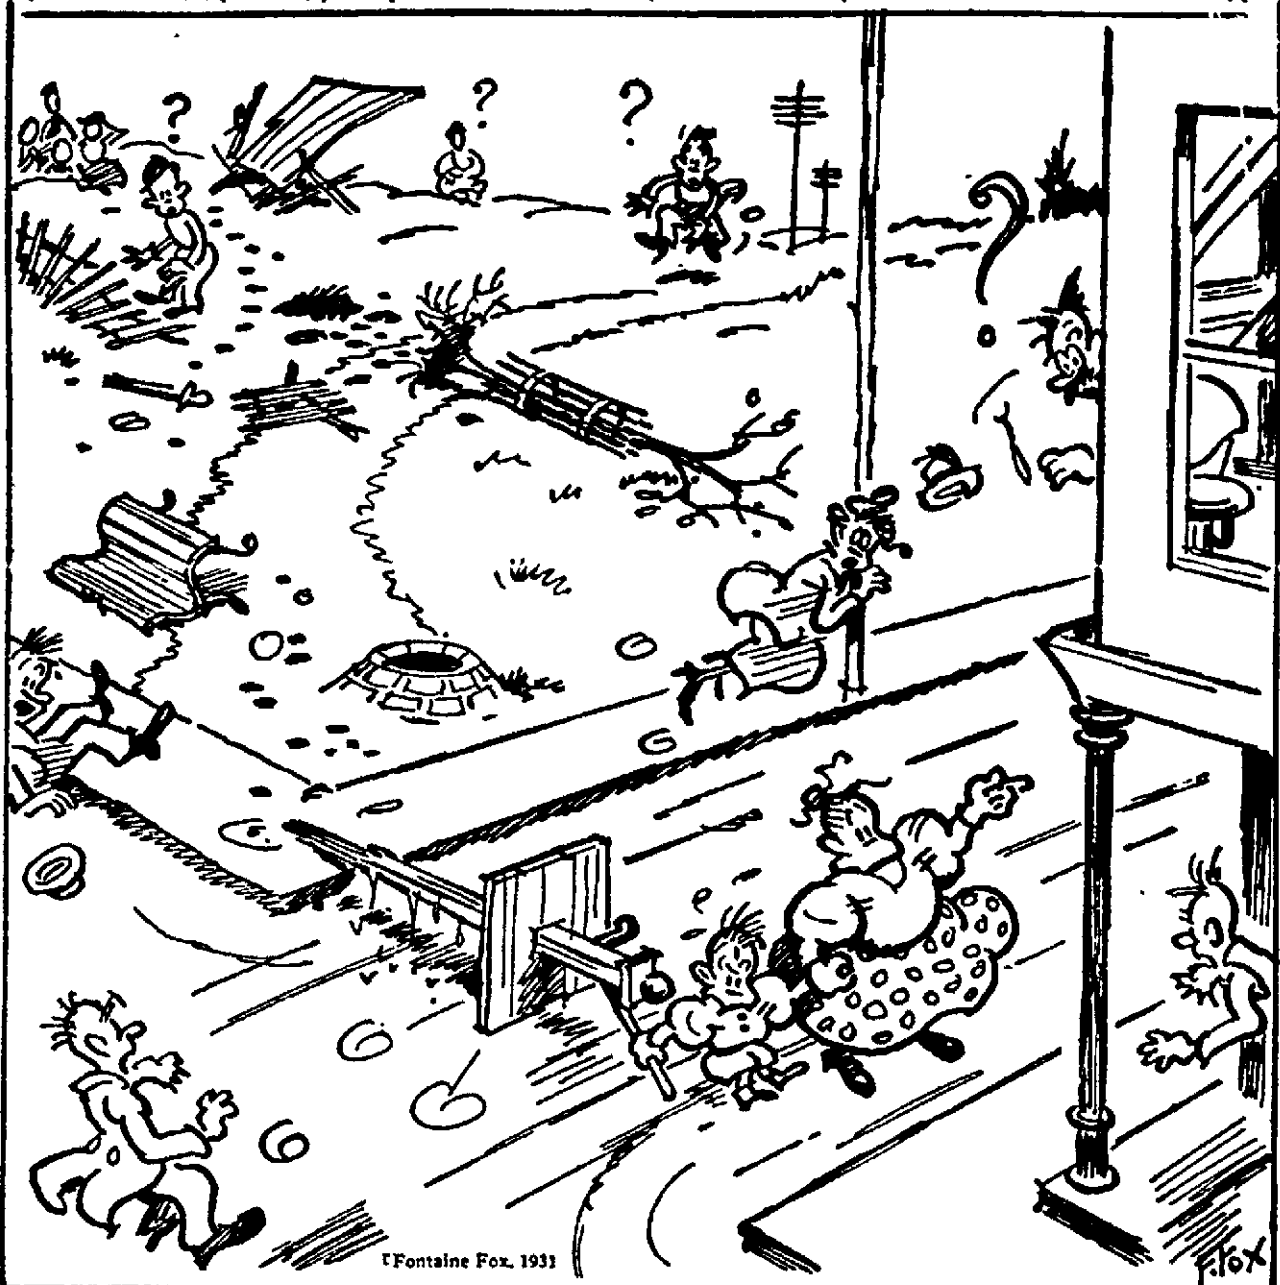

District Attorney Grady announces that he will bring Isidor J. Kresel to trial next Tuesday. Mr. Kresel, prosecuting the inquiry into the magistrate's conduct under Judge Seabury, was indicted in connection with the failure of the bank of United States. This move against Mr. Kresel is construed by the reform element as retaliatory action on the part of Tammany.

The correspondent, checking the public attitude toward the reform movement, finds an appearance of a genuine and spontaneous recoil to the multiplying tales of civic corruption. But this feeling is, in the chemical phrase, "in solution," and awaiting precipitation by some fiery and virulent leader such as Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, who set the town on fire and smoked out the tiger in the old days. Broadway is cynical and full of preposterous "low-down." Earnest clergymen probably would have themselves under judicial commitment to an asylum if they could hear the current "main stem" gossip about the inner circles of New York politics and racketeering. Broadway, however, doesn't think that anything really important is going to happen.

William Nelson Cromwell, a New York lawyer who was engaged by the Panama Canal Company of France to sell the canal to America some 25 years ago, is said to have made a million dollars on the deal.

TONIGHT'S GAMES
8:00—Kiel vs. W. De Pere.
9:00—Neenah vs. New London.

BY HAROLD C. FRANK
NEENAH—Expectations of basketball fans here at the local high school gymnasium Thursday evening when the Neenah and New London squads clashed were high. The Neenah team, which has won the championship of the district, was expected to win the game easily.

The Neenah squad, favored to win the tournament again this year, swamped a somewhat inferior Algoma team by a score of 33 to 16 in a fast and furious game. The new gymnasium was filled to capacity with approximately 1,100 spectators. Two bands, one from Neenah and the other from New London, furnished music during the entire program.

Neenah Uses Reserves
"Ole" Jorgenson, Neenah coach, opened a bag of tricks by playing his reserves during the greater part of the game, leaving Schmidt, Bell and Johnson warming the bench until the final period.

The Neenah aggregation played a strong offensive game throughout the fracas, and it was only on five occasions when the guards were caught asleep that Algoma scored.

Neubauer, Haire and Gaertner, who constituted the reserves on the Jorgenson team functioned perfectly and exhibited some real floor work. Haire, lanky center invariably received the tip-off and batted the ball with ease, sending it true to its mark on almost every occasion.

Barnes, stocky left forward was the leading scorer for the Neenah team, scoring five field goals and one free throw. He also was charged with three fouls. Neubauer took second honors as the scoring end of the fracas was concerned with five neat ringers.

In the final period these three reserves were replaced by the stars of the Neenah team, Bell, Schmidt and Johnson. The regulars got away to a slow start and Bell was only player to score. He sank a field goal on a quick follow to the basket after Schmidt attempted a long throw.

Guards Star For Algoma
Sullivan, right guard and Zettell, left guard, on the Algoma squad showed scoring honors. They each sank two baskets and made good a gift shot. Brepl took second honors with one field goal and a free shot.

Babler, tiny right forward on the northern eastern squad gave an excellent exhibition of fancy dribbling in open and tight situations. His teammates, however, were unable to penetrate enemy territory due to the close guarding of Block and Gaertner of the Neenah team.

The New London-Kaukauna game also started out slow, with each team feeling out the other with numerous attempts to break through for a series of short shots.

New London maintained the lead throughout the game, Kaukauna losing its only chance to forge ahead at the close of the first half when the score stood 11 to 10 in favor of the first 8-minute period was 7 to 4 in the Red Devils' favor.

Westphal, lanky New London center, and Raby, left forward showed their superior ability throughout the fracas. The big center held the ball in his possession most of the time and was responsible for the quick action of the team.

Raby Gets Six Goals
Raby, who was constantly at Westphal's side, upheld his high standing in basketball circles by becoming the leading scorer. He dropped six field goals, and was charged with only one error.

Westphal scored three field goals and made good three gift shots to steal second honors. Ladwig, left guard was third with two field goals. Koch, lanky Kaw center was the leading scorer for his team, shooting three field goals. Van Lieshout, left guard was second with one field goal and two free throws.

After playing a somewhat listless game in the initial half, the Kaukauna aggregation came back in the final period and played an almost perfect defensive game. Led by Farwell, fast right guard, the Orange and Black team sowed up almost every other play of the red clad warriors from New London.

Raby Is Hurt
Coach Paul Little revamped his team on various occasions during the final half by substituting Seger for Van Lieshout. Farrell went in for Raby when the latter developed a leg injury in the latter part of the first half and was considerably handicapped in his position at forward. He came back for a short time in the third period but was taken out of the game when he started to limp.

Hundertmark, Ebel And Taurig Are Winners On Legion's Amateur Card

BY GORDON R. MINTIRE

HANS AHI, Oshkosh, emulated Turney in the seventh round of his bout with Dempsey at Chicago a couple years ago and let Billy Hundertmark, Green Bay, chase him about the ring for two rounds in the windup bout of the legion amateur card last night there by losing enough points to give the Green Bay boxer the decision. The bout was the third between the two boys, Hundertmark now having a two to one edge.

AHI showed signs of fight only in the third and last round and scored heavily but not enough to offset the advantage Hundertmark piled up in the first two rounds nor the points for aggressiveness in the third. AHI appeared to have plenty of stuff when he chose to mix with Hundertmark but for some reason or other he continually backed up, hitting when an opening came along but allowing himself to be drawn in by his refusal to fight off.

The first round of the fight was almost even both boxers getting in a couple pokes but otherwise feeling each other out. Whatever edge there was went to Hundertmark on aggressiveness. In the second frame Hundertmark kept after AHI and several times managed to catch him long enough to rock him with rights and lefts to the head.

Knowing that he was trailing and losing his fight AHI showed a tendency to open up in the third round and kept landing rights and lefts to Hundertmark's face and head. Billy was registering for himself in occasional exchanges although AHI had the edge. The first two rounds were not quite offset by the third round effort and the nod went to Hundertmark.

Ebel, Taurig Win
While the windup bout held interest of many fans they probably will talk for a long while about the merits of the Ebel-Thompson battle, the semi-windup and the bout between Zep Taurig of Manitowish and Lyman Thomas of Green Bay. Both were leather tossing sessions full of thrills and Ebel-Thompson bout will have the fans arguing for days over the merits of the two boys.

Thompson was picked to lose to the Two Rivers boy and he did. In four rounds, the margin being large enough as a result of the last three minutes. However, there was plenty of room for differing with the away decision at the end of three frames.

Ebel, a tall, long armed chap as compared to Thompson, was picked in advance of the fight as a positive winner, most folks falling to see Thompson last more than one round. The New London youth crossed them all, however, and showed to the greatest advantage this year.

The boys opened fast and tossed leather with reckless abandon during the first round, Ebel scoring when Thompson stayed at a distance and Herbie registering whenever he got in close.

Thompson had a distinct advantage in the second round, it seemed for he scored heavily with smashing blows to the stomach that caused Ebel to double up and take a cuffing about the head for his troubles. Thompson was the aggressor throughout the frame and was undaunted by the punches Ebel was tossing his direction.

In the third round this writer thought honors were about even. Both boys were pounding away like

BEARS WILL PLAY AT OSHKOSH TOMORROW

Oshkosh—Negotiations are being made and a gymnasium is being secured for an encounter to be played between Skoles of the Major A league and the Appleton Bears. It is believed the game may be played in St. Vincent's gym, Saturday evening.

The Appleton Bears are second in the Industrial league in their city and have enviable record of wins. Skoles have been bolstered with the addition to the squad of Curley Pugh, Fritz Wegner, Gilbert McDonald and Herbert Stogebauer. Pugh played with the local Teachers college team and the other three played with the High school.

NO FOUL RULE INVOKED BY NEW JERSEY BOARD

Newark, N. J.—(AP)—A "no foul" rule, similar to that in operation in New York state, has been put into effect by John McCutcheon, New Jersey state boxing commissioner.

Hereafter fighters claiming fouls in New Jersey will be counted out and paid only for the number of rounds fought.

A couple longshoremen, missing often and registering often. Thompson was taking punishment about the body but other blows were ailing off his shoulder and back. Blows to the head weren't causing much trouble for Herbie took them as he moved away from Ebel and not once during the round did he appear hurt.

The draw decision seemed to upset Thompson and the fourth round saw him staking everything on one or two good wallops. He went into numerous clinches and stalled along, apparently waiting for an opening that never came. The fourth round cost him the decision.

Taurig too Experienced
A tough little fighter from Green Bay who took the best of Zep Taurig had never backed up, lost the nod to the Manitowish fighter because Taurig had too much reach and was much too experienced. The Green Bay youth was Lyman Thomas and he was making his debut here, a showing that has earned him another engagement soon.

Taurig won each of the three rounds but he always ran a chance of catching a leather covered fist of the chin and his head was bobbed about plenty before the evening was over. The same was true of Thomas who was hit with almost everything but the front door and came back after more.

Taurig's reach kept Thomas at a disadvantage and his experience helped him weather numerous assaults. Oftimes the two boys would stand toe to toe and slug it out for a couple minutes, then fall into a clinch where Referee Freddie Andrews had a tough time getting them to break.

West Wins by K. O.
The first three bouts of the evening featured Appleton boys. Clarence Kositzke lost the decision to Leo Champagne of Green Bay in three rounds. Art West hung a K. O. on Howie Robinson of Oshkosh in the first frame and Bob Carnes won a weird decision from Andy Engstrom of Lawrence college.

Kositzke, even in defeat, showed he has improved considerably since his last appearance here and had he not been a veteran like Champagne, probably would have gotten the decision. The Appleton boy went down for no count shortly after the fight opened but he was the aggressor throughout the bout and showed he has picked up a wallop in both hands, something he failed to show in former fights. He jarred Champagne several times in the first frame.

In the second round Kositzke seemed to lose his punching power and Champagne messed him up with ease and copped the round. The third frame saw Kositzke stage a comeback and finding Champagne for a right he battered the Green Bay fighter around the ring enough to win a draw for the three frames. Champagne was set back on his heels several times during the frame and had a tough time weathering the storm.

Kositzke's aggressiveness in the three rounds tired him to the point where he was pretty much all in when the bell sounded for the fourth frame. The steam gone from his punches, he was left falling to move fast enough. Kositzke was content to weather the round and lose the nod.

Art West, one of the hardest punchers ever to crawl into the ring in the only K. O. of the evening in one minute and 15 seconds after the opening gong. His victim was Howie Robinson, of Oshkosh, who seemed to be having things all his own way as he cuffed West about the head and jaw in West's corner. All of a sudden West shot a right straight to the button and Robinson dropped to the floor like a ton of brick and the fight was all over.

Carnes Beats Engstrom
The curtain raiser saw Bob Carnes make his first start in the local amateur ring and win the decision from Andy Engstrom of Lawrence. Although there was no outburst when the decision was announced it stunned most of the fans who thought Engstrom the winner.

Carnes, a high school youth showing his inexperience in the first round by hardly landing a blow despite the fact he was much taller and had a longer reach than the squat Engstrom. The Lawrence student won the first round by a big margin.

The second round saw Carnes win the edge with a long left arm that he kept jabbing in Engstrom's face and which kept the short fellow at a distance. In the third frame Carnes forgot about the left and Engstrom kept hitting him when the two weren't tied up in Carnes' long arms. The judges then announced Carnes the winner.

Save Wrestling For The Wrestler, Promoter Asks

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Ray Fabiani, Boston and Philadelphia wrestling promoter, made a plea today to keep wrestling for the wrestlers. Circus-type promoters who import athletes from other sports are a serious threat to the game, he said.

Now that professional wrestling is profitable and drawing record crowds all over the country and a new and better type of man is going into it from the competitive side, Fabiani said in a formal statement, "there are many new promoters rushing into it."

"They know little or nothing about wrestling or wrestlers. So they get football players like Joe Savoldi, Gus Sonnenberg, Ed George and Max Hammer and boxers like Camara and George Goffey and try to make a circus out of it."

"So surely as athletic commissions in the various states permit them to do this, so surely will the public abandon it as quickly as it has taken it up."

"Bringing every Tom, Dick and Harry into the wrestling game because he has starred in some other sport eventually will drive the fans away. They go to football games to see gridiron stars and to prize fights to see boxers. When they go to wrestling matches they want to see wrestlers."

AHL HAS SIGNED TO FIGHT
Leo Schneider in Oshkosh next week on an amateur card that will mark revival of the sport at the Sawdust city. Hans fought Schneider in Appleton last year on an evening when he was bothered with a flock of boils and lost the decision. Joe Bieble, Oshkosh, will draw an opponent in another match.

Once upon a time AHI could say he was a favorite here. Those days have passed now and most of the fans have soured on him because of his refusal to mix in his recent bouts. Hans waits for the other fellow to come in and while he often gets the nod the fans were pulling Hundertmark to beat him last night, something they weren't doing a year ago.

Art West can be accused of wanting to get his fight over in a hurry and justly, too. The youngster was a serious fighter when he started about his work last night for he wasn't in the best health having been ill for three days. He got a bit careless shortly after the fight opened and that gave Robinson the opportunity to start the barrage of blows that drove West to the corner, his head down between upraised arms and which ended when Art tossed that murderous right that counted 10 for the Oshkosh boy.

The crowd was quiet partial last night. Being composed of representatives from many cities near here the boys in our corner cheered one fighter and booed another. Green Bay fans were in one place, De Pere fans in another, New London fans another and Appleton fans scattered about. There probably was as much "fighting" outside the ring about the boys as there was in the ring.

Engstrom and Carnes furnished comedy of the evening. The two boys were almost opposites physically and as both lacked experience their antics were most amusing. The crowd enjoys that type of fight as well as any other so what's the difference.

Zep Taurig probably will get a windup bout one of these months if a suitable opponent can be found for him. He has staged some tight battles here in the last couple fights and if his opponent will mix Taurig is more than ready to accommodate.

Lyman Thomas is a rugged youngster who takes a lot of battering but who will K. O. a man if he gets a chance to mix. The Green Bay boy has just broken into amateur circles but will be heard from often before another year comes around.

Herbie Thompson was a combination of the vicious, aggressive Herbie of last year and a fighter who knows a lot about protecting himself. He seemed greatly improved over the youngster who fought in other bouts here during the last year. Many fans thought he'd last to a full round against Ebel. He fooled them all, however and fooled them badly.

Ebel was a happy youth when the fourth round gave him the fight. He was so elated he almost indicated he'd just as soon stay in the ring four minutes, that quarrel with Hundertmark ten days that ended with a draw decision which caused Ebel to quit after he was certain two knockdowns have given him edge enough to win.

Winston "Windy" Thomas, New London, was in Thompson's corner and appeared fully recovered from a recent attack of the flu that sent him to the hospital for appendicitis. Thomas stated he expected to see his ring was next month and chances are he will get a place on the next local amateur bill.

TWO MORE CLUBS ENTER DISTRICT AMATEUR MEET
Two more amateur basketball teams have entered the northeastern Wisconsin district tournament to be held at Appleton Y. M. C. A. next week, according to W. S. Ryan, physical director. The teams are the Fountain City Business college of Fond du Lac and the Lutheran Men's club of Two Rivers. Both teams competed here last year.

A total of five teams, all from out of town, now have entered the tournament and runner-up go to the state meet at Green Bay the week of March 28.

SHOCTON HI-Y CAGE TEAM HERE SATURDAY

A basketball team from Shocton high school HI-Y club will come to Appleton Saturday to compete against a local HI-Y group. Shocton and Appleton clubs regularly have been competing in sports events, Appleton having been entertained at Black Creek by the Shocton boys on several occasions.

KIEL ELIMINATES PLYMOUTH QUINTET AT NEENAH TOURNEY

Takes Five Point Lead in First Half and Coasts Through to Win

NEENAH—Leading in every quarter, the Kiel high school basketball team battled its way to a 16 to 13 victory over the Plymouth quint in the opening game of the 1931 district case tournament at Neenah Thursday afternoon. Led by "Butch" Bahr, fast moving forward, the Kiel squad piled up a five point lead in the initial period and was in little danger during the remainder of the game.

Kiel began a fast passing attack early in the game that seemed to bewilder the Plymouth quint and ultimately a five point advantage. Goldgruber's men held their opponents scoreless until after the opening of the second quarter. A Plymouth rally, started by a long, looping basket, scored by Dewzarte from almost the center of the floor, divided honors equally during the second period, but the count at the half was 10 to 5 in Kiel's favor.

The entire second half was featured by wild racing from one end of the court to the other, shots from all angles, and few counters. Lulloff's field goal scored for Kiel as the period opened. Schrage tossed a ringer through the netting for Plymouth, and a pair of free throws evened honors for the quarter.

With the opening of the final period the Plymouth aggregation made the crowd sit up and take notice with a frantic attempt to overcome the five point handicap. Hilgar scored on a field goal. Dickman repeated to chalk up another two points, but the Kiel defense stiffened to break up the rally allowing their own forwards to score on a field goal and gifts toss. At the end of the game, both teams were battling for possession of the ball, with Kiel on the long end of the 16 to 13 count.

California Now The Ideal Spring Training Camp State

BY JOHN E. FOSTER

Copyright, 1931
LOS ANGELES—(CFA)—Billy Evans has confirmed the fact that he has an option on Pasadena and San Diego as a training camp for 1932. The Californians think he will find San Diego better. There are other cities in this huge state that would gladly entertain major league clubs in 1932, and as many years thereafter as possible. It appears that California has entered into rivalry with Florida with a rush.

The weather in California this spring has been so well adapted to baseball training that it seems as if nature has entered a special dispensation for major league clubs. Managers are gratified to the extent of hilarity and if there should come some unreasonable weather they have had every advantage to day and their players are qualified to start regularly in more ways than one.

Undoubtedly there are three very strong ball clubs training in California.

BOYLE AND WEGNER TOP VALLEY SCORERS

Bill Peotter, Appleton's Best Scorer, Has Counted 16 Field Goals

Held scoreless by Oshkosh in the final game of his high school basketball career, Hoot Boyle of Fond du Lac, leading individual scorer in the Fox River Valley conference, finished with a record of 28 baskets and 13 free throws for 69 points.

counted 13 points in his last game but fell 3 points short of the mark set by Boyle, who has a secure grip on the scoring honors. Several players who are well toward the top of the scoring list have one more conference game to play tonight but their chances of overthrowing the Pokes, Fond du Lac star are remote.

Bill Peotter continues to lead the Appleton scorer with 16 field goals and 11 free throws for 46 points. Collins is the next high scorer with 26 points to his credit.

TOM LOUGHRAN TO MEET ERNIE SCHAAF FOR THE THIRD TIME

Philadelphia Boxer Is Betting Favorite; Has Been Beaten Twice

NEW YORK—(AP)—To the superstitious, Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia dancing master, seems to be attempting a little too much in his ten round battle with Ernie SchAAF, rugged Boston heavyweight, in Madison Square Garden tonight.

In the first place, Loughran twice has been beaten by SchAAF, in the second, it's Friday, the thirteenth, and in the third, Tommy's the betting favorite. The faithful shudder every time they think what's happened to favorites at the Garden this year.

But the one-time light heavyweight champion of the world is not worrying. He turned in one of the finest boxing performances of his career in outpointing Max Baer at the Garden recently. Having shaved his weight to little more than 150 pounds, Tommy has regained much of his old-time speed and his left jab is just as annoying and effective as it was when he was easily beating all the 175-pounders in the business.

SchAAF, on the other hand, is just as confident. He has beaten Loughran twice in three attempts and he's taken the stiffest blows of much more dangerous punchers than Loughran without flinching. He is a much more dangerous puncher than Tommy.

Stanley Poreda, of Jersey City, meets Frankie Cawley, Loughran's heavyweight stable-mate, in the ten round semi-final, and Laddie Lee, Boston middleweight, clashes with Jackie Aldare in the first ten.

Training Camp Notes

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—Reports that Eddie Morgan, the Cleveland Indians young first sacker, was anxious to come to terms continued to filter into camp today. The young slugger, who has returned from his honeymoon, has said nothing himself about his desertion of baseball for building boxes, but his friends insist he has had a change of heart. The veteran Lew Fomseca, however, is showing himself ready to handle the job capably.

Los Angeles—(AP)—Several Chicago Cub recruits were breathing more normally because of the knowledge that no one will be cast adrift before April 5. Scheduling of four games for the irregulars while the first string club is playing elsewhere, made it necessary for Manager Rogers Hornsby to hang on to all hands. Pat Malone was expected to start today against Los Angeles, with Root down to finish.

San Antonio, Tex.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox had another session of routine drill scheduled for today, the last one before opening their spring series against the New York Giants tomorrow.

Either Tommy Thomas, veteran righthander, or Vic Frasier, a recruit of the same persuasion, will start against the Giants tomorrow, while the infield will start out with Radcliff at first, Cissell at second, Appling at short, and Kamm at third.

Bradenton, Fla.—(AP)—With the arrival here last night of Frankie Frisch, the number of missing Cardinals was reduced to one, "Chick" Hafey, reported to be a stubborn holdout. Frisch brought his unsigned contract with him, but said he expected no trouble in reaching a satisfactory agreement with officials of the club. The Cardinals returned here immediately after their victory over the Boston Braves at St. Petersburg yesterday.

West Palm Beach, Fla.—(AP)—The battle between "Long Tom" Jenkins and Larry Bettencourt for the right field job with the St. Louis Browns went on merrily today, with Jenkins apparently holding the edge. Bettencourt, who started off with a bang, has been slowed down by a slightly strained back. The Browns will engage the coast guard team from Fort Lauderdale in a practice game today, in which Bill Killefer plans to use practically his entire squad.

Paso Robles, Calif.—(AP)—There was a lot of back-slapping and hand-shaking going on in the training camp of the Pittsburgh Pirates here today, as the boys welcomed Paul Waner, heavy hitting outfielder. Waner, who has been nursing an infected foot in a St. Louis hospital, reported last night. He may not get into training activities at once, however, as the club physician said the wound was not completely healed.

Commencing about May 15, the Texas league plans to play all except Sunday games at night.

WHERE, OH WHERE IS THE GREAT ARTHUR, BREWER PREXY ASKS

Hot Springs, Ark.—(AP)—Usually easy to locate by the sound of his voice, Art Shires is missing—or at least the management of the Milwaukee Brewers can't find him.

The "great one's" presence here has been heralded daily for a week, but so far he has failed to put in appearance for spring training.

President Louis Nahn decided last night Shires had delayed his appearance long enough and sent out a tracer in the form of a telegram. It came back undelivered.

Shires—if he shows up—is expected to play first base for the Brewers.

The Three Big Shots of the Yankees

Eyes of the baseball fans are on Lou Gehrig, Joe McCarthy and Babe Ruth, left to right above, the big shots of the New York Yankees. The fans have a pretty definite idea of what to expect from Lou and Babe. They're wondering, however, just what McCarthy, as manager of the world's greatest baseball circus, can accomplish in the pennant dash this year, his first in the American League.

PLAY THREE GAMES IN KIMBERLY BOYS' MEET

Kimberly—The Kimberly Club's Junior boys tournament went into the second day of play with three games yesterday. The first game of the evening gave Patricks Lions a win in a two overtime period game with Vander Veldens Hippos. The game started fast and at all stages was almost even. The Hippos led at the half by a 7 to 6 count. During the first seven minutes of the last quarter the Hippos help the Lions scoreless while they took the lead with the score 13 to 12. Then the count was tied when Patrick was fouled with about a half minute to play. He made the free try and the boys had to battle two overtime periods to find a winner.

In the second game of the evening Bunno's Wildcats earned the right to play for third place with the Hippos tonight. Bunno's team started the game with a bang and led by a 14 to 9 count at the mid period. The Cubs made a desperate effort to retaliate in the last period but lost the fracas by a 19 to 13 count. In the third game of the evening William's Tigers earned the privilege of entering the finals, when they tripped the Hippos in another close battle. The Hippos led at the half the score being 7 to 4. The grind proved too much for the Hippos who had played one game previous to this one and the Tigers took the nod by a 16 to 13 count.

MACFARLANE AND COX WIN FOUR BALL MATCH

Miami, Fla.—(AP)—Willie MacFarlane and Wiffy Cox, today won the dual crown of Miami's International four ball matches after a 56 hole struggle. They won the championship 3 and 2, but it was Willie and his course ooching nine hole 30, six under par, who took the spotlight for the victory over Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell.

MacFarlane and Cox took first money of $500 each and a quarter share of approximately $1,500 gate receipts at their 18 hole play off match. The losers gained $500 each and equal share of the gate.

MacFarlane copped a four hole lead as he made the turn of the 18-hole playoff amid a shower of birdies and eagle three at the seventh.

Sports Question Box

Question—Do you think Max Schmelling will go down in ring history as a world's champion?

Answer—Not unless he does better than he did against Jack Sharkey. Schmelling did not win from a champion. The retirement of Gene Tunney left the title open. No decision will make a world's champion unless the fighter does something to prove his right to such an honor.

Question—One out and the bases are full. Bateman hits to the shortstop who throws to second forcing out the runner from first. As the second baseman attempts to complete a double play at first the runner, who had been on first, interferes with the second baseman causing a bad throw. Can the umpire rule a double play declaring the batsman out because of interference?

Answer—The umpire has plenty of authority under the rules to declare the batter out.

Question—What college did William S. Langford, secretary of the Football Rules Committee attend and did he play football?

Answer—He attended Trinity College in New York State and played football.

Question—Is Earl Mastro fighting any more? If not, what is he doing now?

Answer—Mastro has been very sick. He was operated on and is doing nicely. Earl expects to return to the ring in a few months.

Kaukauna — Political candidates have until March 25 to file nomination papers. Voters will elect five aldermen, five supervisors, two justices of peace and two school commissioners at the spring election on Tuesday, April 14.

Nomination papers are being circulated for Abe Goldin for justice of peace for the south side. Opposition for the same office is seen with Theodore Seggink as the opponent. Nomination papers are being circulated for Mr. Seggink. Nick Schwinn justice of peace for the north side, will seek reelection. It is likely that he will be unopposed. The justices are elected by the city at large. At the present time there is no justice of peace on the south side, as E. E. Zekind, who was holding that office, moved from the city. Those whose terms expire are Otto Luedtke, Ben Faust, E. R. Landreman, George L. Smith and Frank Gertz as aldermen, John Niesen, Sylvester Esler, William Fowor, Arthur Meyer and Fred Reichel as supervisors, L. J. Brenzel and H. T. Runtz as school commissioners. They are expected to run for reelection. Their nomination papers may be put in circulation this week.

VOCATIONAL FIVE MEETS TWO RIVERS

Tilt This Evening Marks Last Home Game of Season

Kaukauna — With their hopes raised by their first win of the season at Fond du Lac last week, the Kaukauna Vocational school cagers will play the last home game of the season Friday evening against Two Rivers in the high school auditorium. A second game will be played on the same evening between the cagers of the Kaukauna and Appleton councils of the Knights of Columbus. The first game will be played at 7:30 and the K. of C. game at 8:30 in the evening.

After losing every game prior to last week, the vocational cagers turned the tables and defeated Fond du Lac. The victory gives the team a good chance to become eligible for play in the state vocational cage tournament at Green Bay on March 19, 20 and 21, it is believed.

The Two Rivers game was cancelled several weeks ago, but later arrangements were made by the two schools to play it. Coach B. D. Rice will start Smith at center, Reuter and Busse or Smith at forwards, and VanDrake and Welhouse or Lennert at guards.

Included in the line-up for the Kaukauna Knights team will be VerBaten, Brenzel, Derus, Lang, Schmidt, Kilgas, Rice and VanLieshout.

Traveling Man Tells Health Secret

Philadelphia, Pa.—L. Lamberton of this city, traveling salesman, is widely known for his excellent health. Knowing the hurried life travelers must lead, it is all the more surprising. Interviewed recently, Mr. Lamberton said "I find that travel, with its irregular hours and change of food, tends to constipate. For that reason, a bottle of Pluto Water is always in my bag. I find that it affords speedy relief, even in the most stubborn cases. I recommend Pluto to every man who travels a great deal."

Pluto Water is invaluable, not only as a relief from constipation, but as a preventive. Take a small quantity each morning upon arising, diluted

In plain hot or cold water. It will keep you regular—help ward off other serious complaints. Drug stores and fountain everywhere sell Pluto Mineral Water.

Old Pound Master Recalls How Auto Halted Business

Kaukauna—A business that declined with the advent of the automobile is recalled by Fred Reichel, former master of the old city pound. The pound will be remembered by the older residents when it was located near Kankapet creek near the present site of the city hall park.

The pound at one time was a paying business, made possible by the negligent owners of horses, cattle and smaller domestic animals. The pound was a small piece of fenced-off land. And any stray horse or cow found by the pound master was put into it until called for by the owner. Poundage had to be paid by the owner before he could take his animal home. The rate at one time was a dollar for a horse or a cow and smaller amounts for various other animals.

About 25 years ago it became needless to maintain the pound, according to Mr. Reichel. The city had grown and the family cow was disappearing. People in the city did not keep pigs and other smaller domestic animals anymore and business at the pound became slack. Cars began to replace horses and finally the pound went out of existence.

Mr. Reichel was pound master for a number of years. He took the job at the death of his father.

BURNED BODY IS CENTER OF IOWA MYSTERY

Investigation Started at Request of Insurance Companies—Scent Plot

Perry, Iowa.—(AP)—A theory that the burned body of a man buried here Feb. 3 as John M. Smith, Farmer-Labor candidate for governor in 1930, was not that of Smith was being investigated today at the request of insurance companies with which Smith carried $50,000 worth of policies.

The body of the man, burned beyond recognition, was found under the wreckage of a motor truck near Denison, Iowa, and was identified by Mrs. Smith as that of her husband. When exhumed yesterday and subjected to an autopsy it was revealed, Coroner L. H. DeFord said, that it had been embalmed before it had been buried. The authorities were unable to identify the body. C. D. Bessmer, an undertaker, told them the corpse contained a mortician's stitches, made before the burning. Meanwhile a search for Smith was under way on the theory that he is still alive.

Dentists testified that their work on Smith did not correspond with that in the mouth of the burned man. Doctors furnished additional testimony that Smith had suffered a fractured skull several years ago but that there was no indication of a fracture on the skull of the body.

Mrs. Smith said that at the time of the burial she believed that the body was that of her husband but said that the features were not recognizable. She could advance no theory where her husband might be if alive.

The Perry man was the owner of the Farm Disinfecting company, manufacturer of stock and poultry remedies. When he left home Feb. 3 he had in his truck 45 gallons of the remedy, an inflammable liquid.

Officials said they had no indications regarding the present whereabouts of Smith, the identity of the body at Perry, or where it was obtained.

ASSOCIATED PRESS PLANS BROADCAST

News Gathering and Distribution to Be Feature of Saturday Program

New York.—(AP)—Against a backdrop of the click and hum of high-speed typewriters, the Associated Press will radio-cast Saturday night the never-ending drama of gathering and distributing the news of the world. For half an hour, beginning at 6:30 p. m. (Appleton time) microphones, set up in the general news room of the New York headquarters, will carry over WEAF and WJZ with the combined chains of the National Broadcasting system the heart-beat of this news gathering organization whose activities encircle the globe. Every available station from coast to coast will be cut in.

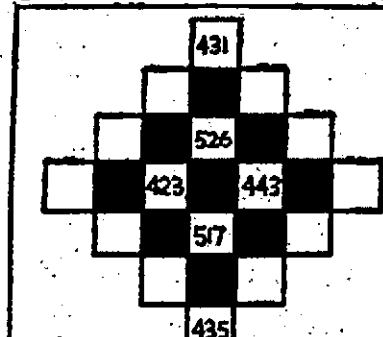

Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press, will make a brief address, explaining the purpose and functioning of the organization. He will be introduced by M. H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting company, through whose cooperation the broadcast was arranged.

After Mr. Cooper, George Hicks and James Wallington, announcers will make a tour of the news room, describing the work of the editors, reporters and operators, through whose hands pass 367,000 words a day recording the events of the world on their way to the news columns of 1,340 member newspapers of the Associated Press in North and South America and through allied news gathering agencies to the papers of the old world.

A close-up of the work will be furnished in interviews with J. M. Kendrick, executive news editor in charge of the news report to morning papers and other editors on the news that is developing at the moment of the broadcast.

WHAT MAKES PEOPLE MOODY?

Do you know that our health and our moods are closely related to intestinal cleanliness?

When the system is clogged by constipation, poisons are generated. Often these bring on headaches and listlessness. You feel blue, or become irritable.

The poisons of constipation frequently aggravate nervous troubles, rheumatism, high blood-pressure and heart trouble.

Yet constipation can be overcome by eating a delicious cereal: Kellogg's All-Brân. Two tablespoons daily are guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation.

Try it with milk or cream. Use in cooking too. Recipes on the red-and-green package. All-Brân also supplies iron for the blood. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

IRVING ZUCKER BUILDING

RENTAL OFFICE
Second Floor
ONEIDA STREET ENTRANCE

By Percival Christopher Wren—Author of MYSTERIOUS WAY

SYNOPSIS: John Wayne uses his knowledge of Dr. Charters' criminal past to force his admittance to his nursing home and gain an alibi for "Spider" Schmitt's murder. Previously the physician had stolen the entire loot from the St. Clair diamond haul, tricking his confederates, Schlitz and Chink Dorson, Charters plans to have Wayne's seeping madness certified as insanity so as to remove him. Wayne acts queerly when he meets Marjorie Lauderdale, inexplicably ill in the home, where she has been placed by her aunt, Mrs. Lauderdale, former evil associate of Charters. Dr. Mac Adoo is told by Wayne to ask Charters for a half share of the "Lauderdale 10,000 pounds." Leaving the astounded MacAdoo, whose evil past he knows, Wayne consults the reputedly able Studley and later calls on Charters' confidant, Mr. James.

CHAPTER 10
IS WAYNE INSANE?

THE face of Mr. James did not betray his surprise, but his expression, so far as it had an expression at all, was one of concentration.

And that of John Wayne was not dissimilar in expression. The gentle and admirable Dr. Studley would hardly have recognized him as the agreeable visitor of that afternoon.

At length it grew unbearable—for Mr. James; and he spoke.

"Well, Mister Mysterious Wayne?" he growled harshly.

"Well, Gunman Gryde?" replied John Wayne, and Mr. James' ejaculatory reply was uttered, perhaps fortunately, beneath his breath.

"And so the Boy Gunman, valued and respected citizen of New York, has only changed the tools of his trade. The march of progress, eh? A far cry from Hinky Dink's honk-at-onk to The Monastery!"

Mr. James rose from his seat, an unwonted gleam in his cold dull eyes.

"You..." he snarled, and at the beginning of the word his hands were empty; at the end of it, a pistol was thrust hard against John Wayne's stomach.

"Tools of me trade, did you say?" he growled ferociously. "Got anything against this tool?"

"No, you've got it against me," replied John Wayne pleasantly. "But you daren't use it, Gunman Gryde. Children are your game."

"Put 'em up quick," growled Mr. James. "Quick, I said."

"I heard 'you,' replied John Wayne. "If I take my hands out of my pockets, it won't be to hold 'em up," replied Wayne, slowly removing his hands from his pockets.

"And, besides, I've always thought—when I've seen it done on the stage or in the pictures, and, indeed, in real life—that this close-to-hand-up business is extremely silly and theatrical, because as the poor victim begins, or pretends, to raise his hands, he's only got to go so..."

And John Wayne's right hand seized that of Mr. James' "checking it aside as it did so. Wayne twisted the gunman's wrist with powerful violence. James uttered a gasping cry of pain, and the pistol fell to the ground, as Wayne's left hand closed on his assailant's throat.

"You fool, unspeakable, loathsome scum," he growled, shaking him as a terrier shakes a rat.

"But I mustn't lose my temper and get rough," he added, as he lifted Mr. James and flung him with crashing force against the wall.

Mr. James gasped, shook his head, and swiftly stooped to where his pistol lay.

Stooping he snatched it and, as he turned, received so terrible a kick beneath his outstretched arm that, with a groan, he collapsed and lay inanimate.

Crossing to the electric bell, John Wayne pressed it. A minute later a maid entered.

"Will you kindly tell Dr. Charters to come at once to Mr. James' room. He has been taken ill."

Without the formality of a knock, a nurse hurried into the room.

"What's happened?" Mary says...." cried Nurse Jones, and, seeing the prostrate form of Mr. James, hurried to where he lay upon his face.

"What's happened?" she repeated, endeavoring to turn Mr. James upon his back.

John Wayne regarded the face of Nurse Jones from which, he fancied, something had peeped out.

"What's happened?" replied Wayne. "Oh, he had a seizure — of the throat. As for help, I think Dr. Charters is the proper person to diagnose the case."

Nurse Jones' eye fell upon the automatic pistol as she succeeded in turning the body of Mr. James face-upward.

"My God!" she whispered and glared accusingly at Mr. Wayne, who, stooping, picked up the pistol. "You've murdered him."

Smilingly, John Wayne shook his head.

"Not yet," he said pleasantly, and, as he spoke, the door opened suddenly and Dr. Charters strode in.

"What's this?" he demanded.

"Jimmy's not..." and as his glance flashed from the motionless form of Mr. James, besides whom the nurse knelt, the mask of inscrutability fell from Dr. Charters' face, and the blood receded from it.

"You've shot him, you..." he cried, and flinging himself down by Mr. James, placed his hand upon his heart. "What's he hit?"

"It isn't his, so much as kicked," observed Wayne, tossing the pistol contemptuously onto the table. "I rang for you—to request you to keep your dog under proper control—for your own sake as well as mine. Tell him not to bark at me again, and see that he obeys you—or I shall have to deal with him myself."

Snatching up the pistol, the Doctor smelt the muzzle and, reassured, laid it down again.

Mr. James groaned, opened his eyes, drew a deep breath, placed his hand to his side and groaned again.

"He's mad," he groaned. "Sprang on me like a mad bear-cot... nearly killed me... he'd mad."

"Raving mad," agreed Nurse Jones. "I came in just in time to save Mr. James' life. The man was standing there, pointing the pistol at Mr. James' head as he lay senseless."

John Wayne's laugh was one of genuine amusement.

"So the admired and popular Nurse Jones is one of us, eh?" he smiled.

"Look here, you," he said, turning on John Wayne, "what's the game? If you want to lie up here, can't you do it in peace and quiet? Can't you make that much decent return for shelter and hospitality? And, once again, who are you and what do you want?"

"I must be mad," smiled Mr. Wayne.

"You've said it," replied Dr. Charters, and his voice was steely. "And here are three witnesses to an unprovoked and savage attack upon one of the staff."

"Three?" smiled Wayne. "All eye-witnesses of the unprovoked assault? Splendid. And here I am, talking as reasonably as you like; and I give you my word of honor that I have not the faintest recollection of making an unprovoked and savage attack upon one of the staff. It's perfectly clear I'm not responsible for my actions, isn't it?"

"Perfectly," agreed Dr. Charters, evidently exercising great restraint.

"Absolutely," said Nurse Jones.

"Yes," continued Dr. Charters. "Perfectly clear that you are not responsible for your actions, and that you are a dangerous menace to the staff and patients of this Nursing Home, and to Society generally."

And three witnesses to it."

Smiled John Wayne, crossing the room and opening the door. "Half-hung Simon, Louie, the Lady—and Gunman Gryde," he added, as he turned about, smiled upon them, and departed.

"And what d'you know about that?" asked Louie the Lady, with a quite unladylike oath, as she gazed at Dr. Charters, who stared blankly at the door that closed softly behind Mr. Wayne.

"He's for it!" he said at length. "He must be put away."

"Or else we shall be," he added, breaking the heavy silence of the room.

PREDICT HOME TALKIES ARE COMING SOON

Radio Corporation Has Good Business During 1930, Report Shows

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright 1931, By Cons. Press
Washington—(CFA)—America's industrial phenomenon of the decade—the Radio Corporation of America—enjoyed a year bristling with activity in 1930 and stands on the threshold of new achievements in the magic field of "electrical entertainment."

Television and home talkies now are in definite view. The R. C. A. informs its stockholders in its annual report today, covering every phase of "electrical entertainment," which embraces radio broadcasting, radio communications, receiving set manufacture, phonographs, talking movies and related fields, all maintained through subsidiary or affiliated companies.

Television is held to be at least a year away, but home talkies now are ready and eventually should invade 20,000,000 homes exhibiting entertainment and educational films through a circulating library arrangement. "Progress already made gives evidence of the ultimate practicability of a service of television and the position of your corporation in this new and promising field, both as regards patent rights and technical facilities, is such that it may anticipate new and broader service opportunities," says the report.

Talkies Head List
Home talkies however, head the list of new developments. It is apparent, the report states, that with the equipment already developed by the electrical and radio industries for the recording and projection of sound, the field of talking motion pictures extends much beyond theatrical entertainment. An enlarged market for such pictures in the school room, the college, the church, and eventually in the home, is envisioned.

"Your corporation is in a position to begin production upon a commercial basis as soon as the associated services necessary for the growth of such an industry are sufficiently developed. Such services call for the continuous production of entertainment and educational films to meet home requirements; for a system of distribution which, instead of serving some 20,000 public theatres, may be able to serve eventually 20,000,000 'little theatres' of the home; for such technical and industrial development

Brightly Colored Eggs Bring Easter Thoughts

Bright-colored Easter eggs snuggled in nests of green, blue and yellow, are bobbing up in Appleton shop windows, harbingers of the Easter season.

Eggs as a symbol of the mystery of life are found in legends going back very far. There was an Oriental myth about two brothers who created the good and evil in this world. One packed an egg full of blessings and virtue, the other filled one with evil things for the injury of mankind; and when both eggs were broken, a mixture of good and evil came forth.

The Romans gave eggs as prizes to athletes at the time of their great springtime celebration in honor of Castor and Pollux, because these heroes were said to have come from a swan's egg. The Jews at their Passover Feast laid on the tables, along with unleavened cakes and other things, a hard-boiled egg. This is sometimes regarded as the beginning of the present custom.

From whatever source its traditional use is derived, Christians, apparently from the earliest days of the church have regarded the egg as

as will bring the cost of such film service on a continuous basis within the range of the great majority of the public.

In dollars, the gross income of R. C. A. and its wholly-owned subsidiaries, decreased as compared with last year. In 1930 it was approximately $137,000,000, as against $182,000,000 the preceding year. The net income was approximately $5,500,000, as against about $16,000,000.

Separate Interests
During the year, the R. C. A. separated its interests so as to unify its research, engineering, manufacturing and sales activities and itself largely has become a holding company. It took over the manufacture and sale of receiving sets from Westinghouse and General Electric and placed them in R. C. A. Victor. It also acquired the stock held by those companies in the National Broadcasting company, R. C. A. Victor, R. C. A. Radiotron, R. C. A. Photophone and General Motors Radio company, as a result becoming the sole owner of the outstanding stock of these companies with the exception of General Motors Radio, in which it owns 49 per cent. General Electric and Westinghouse obtained proportional increases in their holdings in R. C. A. itself. N. B. C. for the first time showed an operating profit in 1930, serving 72 stations with programs.

an emblem of the resurrection of Christ.

As for the coloring of eggs, that may not be quite so ancient, but at any rate it is old. There is a story of a German duchess who took refuge among simple forest folk at the time of the medieval war and at Easter wished to make the children happy. Having nothing at her command to give them but a few eggs, she hit upon the idea of coloring these brightly with dyes from roots and mosses, and so the custom of coloring eggs was begun. However, even earlier reference to eggs of glorious hues can be found, and nobody knows where the first one was colored. Nature, of course, set the style by making the eggs of many birds brilliant and beautiful.

Egg rolling is another custom that comes from Germany and may go back to old pagan times. The most famous celebration of it in this country is on the White House lawn at Washington every Easter Monday. Children rich and poor, white and black, come with their baskets of gay colored eggs for the annual event.

UNDER WATER AQUARIUM OPENED

San Sebastian, Spain, has just opened its new Oceanographic Museum to the public. It is said to be the first underwater aquarium in the world. The basement is below sea level, and screened passages admit sea water directly to the chamber in which the fish are kept.

How you feel in the morning tells the real story

THAT'S the way you should feel like whistling and singing. Your muscles should itch to tackle the day's work. Your mind should quickly solve the problem that baffled you the afternoon before. Don't let your health slip away so that a night's rest fails in its natural recuperative powers. When you awaken with a "dragged out" physical or mental feeling, heed those bad symptoms. Could Write a Book About It

"Nine years ago after my little girl was born dead, I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for about four months. The next year I became the mother of a fine 11 pound baby boy. After he was born, I kept on with the medicine to build me up. Four months ago I was nervous and rundown and suffered from other troubles which I knew Lydia E.
